PRESIDENT LINCOLN AT THE CAPITAL OF THE EMPIRE STATE.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 26—10 P. M.

The capital of the Empire State to-day paid a noble tribute to the memory of ABRAHAM LINCOLN. Business was entirely suspended, buildings were wreathed in black, and military and civic associations turned out in a most imposing pageant. No such crowd was ever before seen here. The streets were a perfect sea of human beings; multitudes who hoped to catch a glimpse of the placid features of the martyr President, went away disappointed.

Gov. FENTON was serenaded to-night by a splendid band which played at LINCOLN'S inauguration. The Governor responded in an appropriate speech, alluding in fitting terms to the mournful occasion, and expressing an earnest prayer, that under God, this terrible calamity may be the means of uniting more completely the hearts of the American people in the love of their country and of liberty.

FROM NEW-YORK TO ALBANY.

We have already recorded the departure of the funeral train from New-York, and here briefly note some of the events transpiring along the Hudson River Railroad.

The procession arrived at the Hudson River Railroad Depot at 4 o'clock, and with the usual ceremony the coffin was transferred to the funeral car. Gov. FENTON then came on board with his Staff, namely: Gen. J. S. BATCHELLER, Inspector-General; Gen. JAMES B. SWAIN, Engineer-in-Chief; and Gens. ALEXANDER W. HARNEY and E. A. MERRITT.

FORT WASHINGTON, Tuesday, April 25—4.35 P. M.

A crowd had here assembled, displaying banners, clothed with crape, the children waving their hands and the adults in other ways manifesting their respect; and so it was all along the road.

At Mount St. Vincent a large black flag with white letters, bore the words:

"We mourn our Nation's loss."

This motto is repeated in other localities.

YONKERS—4:55 P. M.

Mottoes and draped flags are profusely displayed and of the large concourse of people every man raises his hat.

HASTINGS, April 25—5 P. M.

The residents of Hastings, by voluntary subscription erected a funeral arch near their depot. It was heavily draped and artistically adorned with flags, wreaths and insignia of grief. It was composed of four pillars forming a triple arch, over which rose a black and white shield surmounted by a golden star. Beneath was suspended a laurel wreath encircling the letter L in gold. This beautiful erection bore the following inscription:

"We will cherish the memory of ABRAHAM LINCOLN, by supporting the principles of Free Government for which he suffered martyrdom."

At the request of Admiral FARRAGUT, whose home is in Hastings, the funeral train checked its speed while passing, and thus acknowledged this beautiful tribute to the memory of the distinguished dead.

IRVINGTON—5:15 P. M.

Here another large crowd is assembled, exhibiting similar marks of mourning.

TARRYTOWN—5:20 P. M.

Here was a striking and impressive scene. The surface of one side of a frame structure was entirely covered with an American flag, trimmed with mourning and adorned with mottoes. Near it, on a tastefully decorated platform, was a number of young ladies with clasped hands, dressed in pure white, with broad black sashes, apparently immovable as statues.

SING SING—5:30 P. M.

The crowd here was very large, especially in the vicinity of the railroad station. The cadets were in line, and a long row of men with heads uncovered, and a number of ladies dressed in white, with black sashes, heightened the effect of this interesting scene. Minute guns were fired here.

PEEKSKILL, Tuesday, April 25—5:55 P. M.

The people were abroad, and were evidently interested and mourniul spectators. Flags and mottoes were here displayed, and a band of music performed a funeral march, greatly adding to the solemnity of the scene.

WEST POINT, Tuesday, April 25—6:20 P. M.

We have reached Garrison's, opposite the Academy. The station is adorned with national flags, festooned with crape. The beauties of the natrual scenery are spontaneously admired. The sun is sinking behind the Highlands, shedding a mellow light on that historic neighborhood. A company of regulars and the West Point Cadets are drawn up in line. The officers of the Academy stand by themselves, with uncovered heads. Eastman's New-York College Band, which accompanied our party, play a funeral dirge while the cadet band performed funeral music in front of the train. A large number of persons are collected. Meanwhile salutes are fired from the other side of the river at West Point. We leave this charming spot, and hurry past the dark Highlands with their bluish back around. Further on a reddish light, as if from a fire, appears in the direction of the still declining sun. It blends with yellow and gold, and in the upward fading tints, heavy bars of orange here are prominent. A glorious sunset—appropriate and suggestive in view of the event which calls us to its exhibition.

COLD SPRING, Tuesday, April 25—6:40 P. M.

An arch with suitable emblems, under which is a raised pedestal, a young lady in crape personating Liberty; two lads, one a soldier, and the other a sailor, mourning, from prominent features. The members of the league form a circle round the arch. The public authorities, private social organizations, and the whole population are out en masse. Minute guns are firing.

FISHKILL LANDING AND NEWBURG—6:55 P. M.

Spectators are here in large numbers. The men take off their hats. The lady occupants of a carriage are dressed in black, and wave a flag, and are evidently much affected.

NEW-HAMBURGH, Tuesday, April 25—7:25 P. M.

Night has come. We, however, see a large number of spectators of the passing train.

We soon reach Poughkeepsie, and halt. The throngs here are very large. The steep hill-top and sides are crowded. Minute guns are fired and bells tolled. It is estimated that 25,000 persons are here assembled. The station-house is appropriately draped.

RHINEBECK, Tuesday, April 25—8:35 P. M.

Men appear in line with torches. The United States flag is seen in mourning and near it the usual mottoes.

HUDSON, Tuesday, April 25—9:45 P. M.

Dense crowds are congregated here to meet the train. Minute guns are fired. The houses are appropriately decked with mourning.

Passing Coxsackie, we arrived at Stuyvesant. The men lift their hats, and the women their bonnets.

AT ALBANY.

EAST ALBANY, Tuesday, April 25—11 P. M.

The train has stopped, and the day's journey is accomplished. The depot building is elaborately and appropriately draped. There are soldiers and firemen as an escort. The funeral party and the coffin are conveyed across the river. The bells of Albany are tolled and minute guns are fired, and the remains of ABRAHAM LINCOLN are conveyed to the State House The most elaborate and imposing arrangements had been made here during the day to give proper reception to the remains of the late President. The mourning drapery in the halls of the capitol, in the Assembly Chamber, and about the executive mansion was deepened, and nothing calculated to give expression to the heartfelt sorrow of the people was neglected. During the afternoon the desks in the Assembly Chamber were removed, and in the centre of the chamber was placed a plain, neat catafalque, with heavy silver mountings.

The streets were densely crowded on the line of the procession. The hearse was drawn by four white horses. At the Capital the coffin was removed from the hearse to the Assembly Chamber and placed upon the catafalque directly under the chandelier. Guards of the State militia were immediately stationed by order of Brig.-Gen. RATHBONE in the Chamber, halls and side rooms, while companies from the Third and Twenty-first Regiments of the United States Reserve Corps were detailed for duty outside the capital.

At 1¼ this morning the coffin was opened and the immense throng of people in and about the Park were permitted to enter the Chamber and view the remains. They passed by at the rate of 60 or 70 a minute. Many of the visitors exhibited deep feeling, and all were more or less affected.

ALBANY, Wednesday, April 26.

Gov. FENTON cannot proceed west from this city with the funeral cortège, on account of the adjournment of the Legislature, which is expected to take place to-morrow. His staff and several prominent State officials go forward to Buffalo and Dunkirk.

A low estimate fixes the number of strangers here to-day at thirty thousand. All the morning extra trains and excursion boats brought large numbers of people from the surrounding country—many coming a distance of ten or twenty miles.

The city gave evidence of its sincere sorrow, not only in the deep mourning drapery that covered every building, both public and private, but in the quiet bearing and sad countenances of the people. Never before was such a multitude gathered at the capital; and, what was everywhere noticeable, everybody seemed to fully participate in the solemnities of the occasion.

At noon, State-street, which is nearly one hundred feet broad, was filled with a living mass, and Broadway, together with many of the side streets, were equally crowded. The day was beautiful, and the sky clear, with a warm sun and a light breeze from the south. At 1 o'clock the military, Fire Department and civic societies began to form, and at 2 the coffin was closed. From 1 A. M., all through the night, and until 2 P. M., the stream of people pouring through the capital to take a last look of the distinguished dead, was constant; and yet thousands were still in line waiting their turn, when the hour for replacing the cover arrived. Nearly fifty thousand men, women and children visited the remains.

Soon after 2 o'clock the procession, having been formed under Grand Marshal FRANKLIN TOWNSEND, commenced to move over the prescribed route. It was composed of the Tenth and Twenty-fifth Regiments of this city, the Twenty-fourth and the Light Horse Battery of Troy, the State and city authorities, the Fire Department and a large number of civic societies. The military were about 2,000 strong, and, marching comparatively quick, the procession was thirty minutes passing a given point.

State-street, from the Capitol to Broadway, and Broadway, from State to Lumber, altogether a distance exceeding a mile, was densely packed during the march. Such a mass of human beings (probably not less than sixty thousand) was never before seen in the streets of Albany. There were four bands, each with a full drum corps, in line; and as the procession moved down the hill, the bands playing "Love not," "Auld Lang Syne," "Come and let us Worship," &c., the effect was thrilling, and heartfelt grief was depicted in thousands of faces.

The hearse, with the coffin resting in an elegant and elaborately finished catafalque, which was trimmed with white silk, adorned richly with silver mountings, and surmounted by the eagle, was drawn by eight horses.

ALONG THE CENTRAL RAILROAD.

At 3:45 the train of newly finished cars, furnished by the New-York Central Railroad Company, each tastefully draped and trimmed with the emblems of sorrow, was reached, at the Broadway crossing, above Lumber-street, and the coffin was transferred to the hearse-car, in which it had been brought from Washington. The next fifteen minutes was occupied in getting the escort party on board, and at 4 o'clock the remains of the lamented President were moved from Albany, on their way to their resting place in the West.

The magnificent pageant, the vast throngs that had congregated here, and the sadness of the people, all made a scene that will ever keep fresh in the memories of the many who witnessed it.

The remains were conducted to the New-York Central Railroad depot by a large procession of civilians and the military, amid the tolling of bells, the firing of minute guns, and the solemn sounds of mournful music, and at about 4 o'clock we started on our sorrowful journey.

The pilot engine is the "Chauncey Vibbard," with one car attached; and the engine which draws the train is the "Edward H. Jones." The latter has been draped in a handsome manner by the master mechanic of that name, who will accompany the train to Utica, with PETER ARTHUR as the running engineer.

Three coaches and a baggage car were also furnished by the New-York Central Railroad Company. These were appropriately costumed under the direction of JAMES JONES, of West Albany, Superintendent of the Car Department, partly from designs furnished by J. F. LAWRENCE.

Mr. JONES sends a mechanic by the name of JAMES COYLE as far as Buffalo, provided with the tools to make repairs, should any become necessary.

There are also three new and elegant sleeping-cars furnished by the New-York Central Railroad Company through Mr. WAGNER, Superintendent, to be conducted by L. F. CHAMBERLAIN.

The conductor of the entire train is HORER P. WILLIAMS.

H. W. CHITTENDEN, General Superintendent of the New-York Central Railroad, accompanied the train to Buffalo.

ST. JOHNSVILLE, MONTGOMERY COUNTY, Wednesday, April 26.

The train arrived at St. Johnsville, sixty-four miles from Albany, at 7 o'clock. The people everywhere, were out in great numbers, and at several places salutes were fired.

UTICA, Wednesday, April 26.

At Herkimer thirty-six ladies, dressed in white, with black sashes, each holding in the hand a draped national flag, were ranged near the train.

At Little Falls a large cross and a wreath of flowers were laid on the coffin of the President.

Music and minute-guns greeted the train on its arrival here.

There have been appropriate demonstrations of respect and sorrow everywhere along the route thus far.

SYRACUSE, Wednesday, April 26.

The funeral cortège arrived at Syracuse at 11:50 o'clock. Thus far no accident has occurred. Although it is raining, there are at least thirty-five thousand people witnessing the passage of the train at this place. The firemen are drawn up in line, and their torches and the numerous bonfires light up the scene solemnly. Bells are tolling, and cannons booming.

FROM GEN. SHERMAN'S ARMY.

Sherman's Conference with Johnston.

Interesting Particulars of the Interview.

Johnston Informs Sherman where Wilson is Raiding and Wants Him Stopped.

Correspondence of the Cincinnati Commercial.

RALEIGH, N. C., Thursday, April 20, 1865, Via WASHINGTON, Monday, April 24, 1865.

"Peace, from the Potomac to the Rio Grande, and a hope soon to lead you to your homes," were the cheering words in which Gen. SHERMAN announced to his proud army the result of his two days' conference with Gen. JOHNSTON. The terms, as they were understood in the army, unconditional submission to the laws as they will be interpreted by the civil courts of the Federal Government, were read with perfect satisfaction.

The terms, as understood, were believed to be of Gen. SHERMAN'S own choosing, and dictated by him to a conquered army, and their acceptance by the Government was not questioned. So firm was the belief that absolute peace would be proclaimed from Washington, that Gen. SHERMAN'S announcement that he hoped soon to march his army homeward, was accepted as a certainty, and preparations accordingly made. The real conditions upon which the surrender was made, when known, I am confident, will be as promptly rejected by the army as they have been by President Johnson, his cabinet and Gen. Grant.

Gen. SHERMAN, we fear, has made a very grave mistake, and been fairly beaten by that cunning traitor, the rebel Secretary of War.

At the first meeting, at which Gen. JOHNSTON only was present, no terms were finally agreed upon, the second meeting, however, at which BRECKINRIDGE officiated, conditions were accepted and papers signed.

Gen. JOHNSTON, on the first day, probably learned what Gen. SHERMAN'S terms were. After full consultation with JEFF. DAVIS, who was at Hillsboro, he concluded to accept them, taking BRECKINRIDGE with him, however, to draw up the papers.

This important conference was held at the solicitation of the rebel general, who, on the 4th inst., sent by flag of truce a request for a cessation of hostilities, until Gen. GRANT could be sent for. Gen. SHERMAN answered immediately by saying, that if the surrender of his army was the object of such a truce, he was competent to attend to such wants; but if anything else was desired, he wished to know it, when he would decide whether or not it would be necessary to send for the Lieutenant-General. He was informed that he, Gen. SHERMAN, was ready to meet him at any time to confer on the subject of his wants. This offer was promptly accepted, and, through WADE HAMPTON, the point of meeting was agreed upon. At Mr. JAMES BENNETT'S, a little hut on the left of the Chapel Hill Road, five miles from Durham's Station and thirty from Raleigh, the memorable meeting took place. Gen. SHERMAN was accompanied by his right-hand man, his able Chief-Engineer, Col. O. M. POE, and Gen. BARRY, with others of his staff, and met Gen. JOHNSTON, with Major JOHNSTON and Capt. HAMPTON, of his staff. Both generals were accompanied by their cavalry generals, KILPATRICK and WADE HAMPTON.

After the more important questions had been settled, Gens. SHERMAN and JOHNSTON conversed freely and frankly. Gen. SHERMAN said, and Gen. JOHNSTON fairly admitted, that the grand Army of the Mississippi was the best army ever marshaled. "Why," said JOHNSTON, "my engineers, my officers and the people of the South Carolina all insisted upon it, that no army could ever penetrate Salkahatchie Swamps, and you have not only marched your army through it, but corduroyed and bridged it for miles, and then drew after you your immense supply trains. The like could not have been done by any other army."

Gen. WADE HAMPTON'S actions and conduct in the light of such a manly and candid admission, are suggestive of his hatred of the people who elevate and dignify the laboring classes, and thoroughfanaticism in his notion of Southern superiority and chivalry. He denied that the South was conquered or even defeated, and fully announced the theory that one Southern man could whip three Northern men. We believe four years of war have, at least, reduced the odds, even in his opinion, from five to three. During the interview of the two Generals, Col. POE and Major JOHNSTON, Chief Engineers of the two armies, had a long and friendly interview. Major JOHNSTON expressed his admiration for the engineering ability manifested by SHERMAN'S army in its march through South Carolina. The two officers questioned each other about their departments, and at the rebel engineer's request, POE showed him our plan of building pontoons. Major JOHNSON proved himself a thorough gentleman, and as he parted from Major POE, expressed a hope that they would soon meet under more favorable circumstances. In speaking of the armies in the Southwest, SHERMAN inquired where Gen. WILSON with his cavalry was. "He is at Columbia, Georgia," replied Johnson, "and I wish for God's sake that you would stop him, for he is raiding all through that country, tearing everything to the devil." Gen. SHERMAN then showed JOHNSON a dispatch he had just received from GILMORE, saying that POTTER with a force of infantry and cavalry was finishing the work of devastation in South Carolina. SHERMAN forestalled JOHNSTON'S request to have that stopped, by saying that he thought it would not hurt that people to bear a still heavier burden. "Let POTTER burn a little longer," said he. Gen. BRECKINRIDGE was morose and reticent. He showed plainly how deep was his humiliation. He conversed, however, with those who addressed him, and to Gen. SHERMAN, in a discussion as to the slavery question, made this remarkable confession. "The discussion of the slavery question is at an end. The amendment to the Constitution forever forbidding slavery is perfectly fair, and will be accepted in that spirit by the people of the South." If this is the feeling of the class he particularly represents, we hail it with gladness.

The news of the assassination of Mr. LINCOLN was received by Gen. SHERMAN while at KILPATRICK'S headquarters, on his way to the first day's meeting. We have it from Gen. SHERMAN himself, that Gen. JOHNSTON was shocked, and manifested as much feeling and concern as an intimate friend would have done. And well he might, for the exasperated soldiers of the Union army would have desolated the land from the right to the left. The rebel chieftain expressed himself deeply pained at the unfortunate event. He was told that it would be politic in him to publicly disclaim any connection with or knowledge of the deed, or the conduct of our army could not be answered for.

From the Mississippi.

CAIRO, Wednesday, April 26.

The steamer Olive Branch, from New-Orleans 21st, has passed up for St. Louis, with 35 bales of cotton and 619 paroled prisoners from Vicksburgh.

Four men were killed on the day of the receipt of the assassination of President LINCOLN in New-Orleans, for rejoicing over his death.

There were no sales of cotton at New-Orleans Superfine Flour, $8 50@$8 75.

The Memphis cotton market was dull and nominal. Middling, 23c.@24c. net, buyers' price.

A Baton Rouge dispatch of the 20th has been received. News of the assassination was received on the 19th, causing great excitement. Business was entirely suspended, buildings draped and general sorrow manifested. A large funeral procession took place on the 20th.

Gen. BANKS passed Baton Rouge on the 19th, for New-Orleans.

DEPARTMENT OF THE SOUTH.

ARRIVAL OF THE FULTON.

Reception of the News of Mr. Lincoln's Assassination.

Public Meetings in Charleston and Savannah.

A Speech of Ex-Governor Aiken, of South Carolina.

The United State steam transport Fulton WOTTON, from Port Royal, S. C., April 23, to United States Quartermaster, arrived here yesterday noon.

At noon, 24th inst., lat. 33.58, long. 76.46, boarded the United States gunboat Massachusetts, and received files of papers.

8 P. M., passed transport Admiral Dupont, bound north.

11h. 30m. exchanged signals with United States transport Arago, 40 miles north of Cape Hatteras.

A letter from Port Royal says: "We are all in gloom here, caused by the receipt of the news of the death of President LINCOLN. Coming, as it did, right on the heels of our glorious celebration, it is felt all the more keenly."

Gen. LITTLEFIELD has issued the following order:

HEADQUARTERS U. S. FORCES, HILTON HEAD, ST. HELENA AND TYBEE ISLANDS, HILTON HEAD, S. C., April 18, 1865.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 15.—I. ABRAHAM LINCOLN, President of the United States, has been assassinated. The nation mourns—our affliction is deeper than can be expressed.

II. A gun will be fired every half hour, beginning at sunrise and ending at sunset, from Fort Wells, to-morrow. All flags will hang at half-mast, and all business at this post will be suspended for the day.

III. All officers in this district will wear black crape around the left arm above the elbow, and also upon their sword hilt, for thirty days.

By order of

Brevet Brig.-Gen. M. S. LITTLEFIELD.

A meeting had been called, to be held in the Port Royal Theatre on the day the steamer sailed, to give an opportunity for the expression of opinion upon the sad event.

OUR CHARLESTON CORRESPONDENCE

Reception of the News of Mr. Lincoln's Assassination—A Public Meeting.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Friday, April 21, 1865.

The painful intelligence of the assassination of President LINCOLN and Secretary SEWARD caused a deep and profound impression among all classes of our citizens. All, with some few exceptions, no matter what their political preferences may have been, joined in denouncing the cowardly act as one to be abhorred alike by Union men and those whose views have been favorable to the rebellion. The people here look upon the act as one that will work most disadvantageously for the rebel cause. They are of the opinion that, instead of hastening a peace, it will tend to embitter the North against the South, and, in a great measure, postpone that action that both sections were endeavoring to bring about in order to secure a firm and lasting peace. Immediately on the receipt of the news the various military headquarters announced the fact in printed orders, and as soon as possible draped the offices in mourning. The public offices, the Courier establishment, the Charleston Hotel, the Adams' Express Company's building, and many of the places of business on Meeting, King and several other of the principal streets were closed, and the entrances of the same draped in mourning. All over the city the national flag was shrouded in black. By order of Admiral DAHLGREN, minute guns were fired during the day from the various vessels in the harbor, among which were the Tuscarora, Paunee, John Adams, Donegal, Flambeau, Wamsutta, Acaria, and the monitors Catskill and Passaic. The following was the order issued:

FLAGSHIP PHILADELPHIA, CHARLESTON HARBOR, S. C., April 19, 1865.

GENERAL ORDER, No 39.

(Third yearly series.)

A grievous affliction has fallen upon the nation. President LINCOLN has been assassinated.

The vessels of this command will wear their colors half mast, until further orders.

On the receipt of this order, twenty-one minute guns will be fired from every vessel in the squadron, beginning with the senior vessel, each vessel following in the order of seniority. The minute guns will be repeated at sunset.

The officers will also wear crape on the left arm.

Other orders will be issued by the Navy Department. The sorrow we all feel for our loss, indicates the above as the first proper manifestation.

JOHN A. DAHLGREN, Rear-Admiral, Commanding South Atlantic Blockading Squadron.

A large meeting of Unitarians in this city was held on the 19th, over which Dr. JAMES MOULTRIE presided. After a few remarks by Rev. CALVIN STEBBINS and Mr. JAMES BARROW, (the latter having acted as Secretary of the meeting,) Rev. CHARLES LOWE, of Boston, was introduced, who offered the subjoined resolutions, prefacing them with the remarks as given:

Mr. CHAIRMAN: The welcome which has been asked for us by my respected friend, has already been accorded to us. We came as strangers, and have already experienced, at the hands of the few who represent this society, that generous hospitality and that courtesy, for which this city, and especially this church, has long been known. Would that the few who greet us were the many who once filled these pews. We have come, as has been explained, in order to extend to the Unitarians of this city, on behalf of the American Unitarian Association, such aid as they may need and as we can give. The purpose of this meeting was to deliberate upon the course it may be proper to adopt, but the intelligence which has reached us within a few hours must have unfitted us for everything but the utterance of our grief. Under the shadow of such an event as this, it is fitting that all business, even the most sacred, should be put aside, and I have ventured to embody in the form of resolutions some expression of feeling which, with your leave, I will offer to the meeting. I propose these resolutions with no desire to control the action of the meeting, but simply because, feeling as I do, I can do nothing else:

Whereas, This meeting of Unitarians was called for the purpose of consulting in regard to the reëstablishment of worship for those who belong to our liberal faith; and, whereas, since the call was issued, our hearts have been overwhelmed by the intelligence of the appalling calamity that has come upon us and the nation in the death, by the hands of an assassin, of our beloved and trusted Chief Magistrate, the President of the United States; therefore,

Resolved, That before this great dispensation we bow in awe, but with undiminished faith in the Providence of God.

Resolved, That full of the solemnity with which this event has impressed us all, we here dedicate ourselves anew to unswerving fidelity to the interests of the Union; that we feel a deeper sense of the madness of those who, after all hope of succeeding must have passed, would still continue efforts that can only lead to further shedding of blood and a postponement of peace.

Resolved, That we will do all in our power to hasten the re-establishment of peace on the one only basis of a hearty allegiance to the constitution and the authorities of the United States. And we raise our prayers to Almighty God to help us in these our endeavors.

Resolved, That in deference to this event, the business which brought us together be postponed, and that this meeting do now adjourn.

Dr. A. G. MACKEY seconded the resolutions, and they were unanimously adopted by the meeting. Dr. MACKEY then briefly addressed the assemblage, after which the meeting adjourned till 5 o'clock this afternoon.

A very large meeting was held by the citizens of the place at Hibernian Hall, at noon to-day, for the purpose of expressing their condemnation of the recent conspiracy at Washington. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity. The meeting was presided over by ex-Gov. AIKEN, and speeches were made by Dr. MACKEY, Mr. PHILLIPS, Mr. SEYMOUR and several others. A series of resolutions were unanimously adopted, in which the meeting severely denounced the base conspirators, and tendered condolence to the bereaved family of President LINCOLN. Resolutions, offered by Dr. MACKEY, embodying the sentiment of the loyal people with reference to the favorable change which has been brought about by the presence of the Union forces in the city, were also adopted. The meeting adjourned at 3 P. M. At this writing I have not time, before the closing of the mail, to obtain the resolutions, but will send them by the steamer which leaves to-morrow. WRIT.

Another Public Meeting Relative to Mr. Lincoln's Assassination—Speech by Ex-Gov. Aiken.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Saturday, April 22, 1865.

The meeting held by the citizens of Charleston, at Hibernian Hall yesterday, was an important one, and the sentiments then expressed on the demise of President LINCOLN will convince the people of the North that the national pride and honor is by no means extinguished in this community. The meeting was presided over by ex-Gov. AIKEN. Mr. A. L. TAVEAU and Mr. JACOB WILLIMAN acted as secretaries. On taking the chair Gov. AIKEN addressed the meeting as follows:

FELLOW-CITIZENS—We are assembled to pour out the general grief which has been felt in this city for the sudden removal from this life of ABRAHAM LINCOLN, late President of the United States. The horrible and atrocious assassination of President LINCOLN has filled every feeling heart with sorrow and indignation. I did not know, personally, the late President, but those who did have spoken of him in the kindest manner to me; his heart was benevolent and forgiving, and we are told, and have reason to believe, that through him our difficulties would soon have been adjusted and peace once more restored to our distracted country. Our expressions of disgust for the dastardly wretch who could have conceived and executed such a diabolical deed, can scarcely be uttered. Murder is always appalling, but more particularly so in this momentous crisis of our country—now our most anxious moment.

Can it be believed that in the nineteenth century, a human being could be found to have in his bosom so diabolical an idea, and with an accomplice, enter the sick bedroom of another eminent and distinguished personage, the Secretary of State, and plunge into his bosom the deadly weapon? The heart sickens at the recital of such horrors.

We sympathize with the late President's family and that of Mr. SEWARD'S. May the Almighty stretch over them the hand of mercy, and enable them to bear the sad bereavement with pious humility.

At this critical junction of our national affairs, our thoughts are naturally turned to the Vice-President, now President of the United States, ANDREW JOHNSON. When the people of Charleston District did the honor of making me their representative in Congress, I met there Mr. JOHNSON, of Tennessee. I now take pleasure in stating that I soon became acquainted with him, and found him a most intelligent man. He soon impressed me in the House, by his oratory and his arguments in debate, as one of the most talented men there; and it is no little praise to say so, when such a man as STEPHENS, of Georgia, sat on the same floor, and other prominent persons from the different States of the Union.

I have the most entire confidence in his ability to administer the government true and faithfully, having the constitution of our country as his true guide.

May a precious Providence, in His mercy, direct his ways toward peace—and let us again, under the folds of the American flag, once more and forever, be one and indivisible.

On motion the following named gentlemen were appointed to draft a series of resolutions appropriate to the object of the meeting:

John Phillips,	Benj. D. Roper,
Chas. J. Manigault,	Wm. Kirkwood,
James S. Gibbes,	James W. Brown,

Subjoined are the preamble and resolutions submitted by the committee and unanimously adopted by the meeting:

A national calamity has befallen our country. Excited as this community has been for the last four years by war—its rumors, its miseries, and its desolations; familiarized by passing events to feel, not mark, the bitterness of death in all its ghastly forms and hideous sights; the recent announcement of the assassination of His Excellency ABRAHAM LINCOLN, the Chief Magistrate of the United States, with the time, the manner, and the place in which he was most foully murdered, struck upon our senses with most appalling horror, and called forth on the atrocious deed an indignant burst of universal condemnation.

We have met to mingle our grief with the national sorrow; to mourn an occurrence which may retard that peace for which every patriot longed, and for which bleeding humanity most devoutly prayed; and to deplore the commission of a crime degrading and disgraceful to us as a civilized people.

Mr. LINCOLN, among his last acts, had inaugurated measures intended to produce peace. In his preeminently high position, surrounded with all that was desirable in life and which makes life desirable—in the confidence of his Cabinet and in the possession of power and popularity, as far as he was individually concerned, for personal honor and distinction, he may have been well content that his mission was accomplished. But to the American people that the majesty of the law—the only earthly majesty here tolerated and venerated, because embodying the will of the people, and which protects the humblest citizen and guards the highest functionary—should have been defiantly disregarded in the sight and hearing of hundreds, a peaceful scene converted in an instant into a cruel and bloody drama; and the President of the United States, unarmed and unsuspecting danger, in the presence of his family and people, should have been brutally assassinated, was an astounding reality which claims our unqualified detestation and condemnation. Therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the people of the City of Charleston, deeply deplore the assassination of His Excellency, ABRAHAM LINCOLN, President of the United States of America.

Resolved, That we regard the late President's death as a national calamity, believing that measures by his efforts were inaugurated which would have restored peace to our distracted country.

Resolved, That the assassination of the Chief Magistrate of the United States was an atrocious murder, which meets universal condemnation.

Resolved, That the Chairman be requested to forward a copy of the proceedings of this meeting, with a letter of condolence, to Mrs. LINCOLN and family, expressive of our sympathy at their most distressing and afflictive bereavement.

In the course of the meeting speeches were made by Col. James Lynah, Mr. John Phillips, Mr. R. W. Seymour, Dr. A. G. Mackey and others.

A series of resolutions was also presented by Dr. MACKEY and adopted by the meeting, in which the citizens expressed their gratification that the Union forces had crushed the rebellion, and embodied the view that the time had come for the State of South Carolina to take steps toward returning to the Union. WRIT.

The First American Flag Over Richmond.

By our correspondence from Richmond we have received such good accounts of a young New-Yorker, that even at this late date we cannot refrain from noticing him. Lieut. JOHNSTON L. DE PEYSTER, of Tivoli, Dutchess County, Aid-de-Camp to Gen. SHEPLEY, (Chief of Staff to Major-General WEITZEL,) formerly Military Governor of New-Orleans, subsequently of Norfolk, and more recently of Richmond, raised the first real American flag, or ensign, over the Capitol of the rebel Confederate Capital, with the assistance of Capt. LANGDON, Chief of Artillery to Gen. WEITZEL. Two cavalry guidons had been previously placed there, but it should be remembered that a small flag attached to a staff could be planted while the halyards were in process of adjustment and attachment to raise a "real flag." All honor to the officers who placed the guidons there; but as a matter of historic fact and interest, they who raised the first real American flag over Richmond, the central point of slavery, should be remembered in the annals of this war emphatically for freedom. The flag raised was the flag of the Twelfth Maine Volunteers, originally commanded by Gen. SHEPLEY, which waved in triumph over the headquarters of Gens. BUTLER and SHEPLEY at New-Orleans, and was sent forward into Richmond, strapped to Lieut. DE PEYSTER'S saddle, in order that it might have the historic glory of being the first to wave over a city preëminently the stronghold and seat of life of the rebellion.

DREADFUL ACCIDENT.

Collision Between Steamboats on the Potomac.

FIFTY LIVES LOST.

BALTIMORE, Wednesday, April 26.

Yesterday morning, at 12:30 o'clock, the steamer Massachusetts, with a load of soldiers, the greater part of whom were exchanged and paroled prisoners, collided with a steamer named the Black Diamond, a small barge propeller in the Potomac River, one mile from Blackstone Island, which was acting there as a packet boat, and had on board a guard of some twenty men.

The Massachusetts struck the Black Diamond on the port side, about the boiler, sinking her in about three minutes.

In the excitement attending the collision of the two boats many of the soldiers became panic-stricken and beyond the control of discipline, and seized planks and whatever they could find that would float and hastily jumped overboard, and many of them were thus drowned.

The Massachusetts lay near the spot till daylight, picking up about a hundred men, who either jumped or were thrown by the force of the collision on to the wreck of the Black Diamond.

The bows of the Massachusetts were badly stove in and it was with difficulty that she could be kept afloat.

Later in the morning, the steamer Marion, Capt. MOTT, happened to be passing the spot, and relieved the Massachusetts of a large portion of the soldiers on board of her, and reached this place with them at 10 o'clock last night.

The Massachusetts, it is said, had her running lights burning, but the Black Diamond, being anchored, showed but one.

Capt. J. M. HOLMES, of the Third Veteran Reserve Corps, was the officer in command of the troops, and from a statement made by him, it appears that the loss of life, as near as can be ascertained at present, will exceed fifty.

The night was clear but dark, there being no moon. It is impossible to say, at present, where the blame for this disaster is to rest.

THE CAPTURE OF MOBILE.

ADMIRAL THATCHER'S REPORT.

Demand for the Surrender of the City—Reply of the Mayor—Taking Possession and Raising the Stars and Stripes.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 26.

The Navy Department has received the following:

WEST GULF BLOCKADING SQUADRON, U. S. FLAG-SHIP HOCKADAY, OFF MOBILE, April 15, 1865.

SIR: In my last dispatch, of the 12th inst., I had the honor to inform the department that Gen. GRANGER and myself had demanded the immediate and unconditional surrender of the City of Mobile, and that it would undoubtedly be accorded, as the city was at our mercy and we were in possession of the outside forts. The officers detailed by Gen. GRANGER and myself were met by the Mayor and other authorities near the entrance of the city, and a demand for its surrender was there made. The parties then repaired to the City Hall, where the Mayor addressed the following communication:

MAYOR'S OFFICE, CITY OF MOBILE, April 14, 1865.

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your communication at the hands of Lieut.-Col. R. G. LAUGLIN, of the staff of Maj.-Gen. GRANGER, commanding Twenty-third Army Corps, and Lieutenant Commander R. FRANKLIN, United States Navy, of the staff of Admiral THATCHER, demanding the immediate and unconditional surrender of this city. The city has been evacuated by the military authorities, and its municipal authority is now within my control. Your demand has been granted, and I trust, gentlemen, for the sake of humanity, all the safeguards you can throw around our people will be secured to them.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

R. H. SLOUGH,

Mayor of the City of Mobile,

To Maj.-Gen. GORDON GRANGER, commanding Twenty-third Army Corps; Acting Rear Admiral H. K. THATCHER, commanding West Gulf Squadron.

The flag of the United States was then hoisted on the City Hall, and a portion of the troops immediately advanced to prevent pillage.

The provost guard being established, the works around the city, which are of immense extent and strength, were then garrisoned.

The Navy-yard has been seized in behalf of the navy, but most of its contents had been destroyed, except some lumber and a quantity of soft coal.

The Octorora and three river monitors are now at anchor in front of the city and down the Tensas. The former and one of the iron-clads will be sent up the Tombigbee River, where the rebel iron-clad Nashville and gunboat Morgan have fled; but the Huntsville, Tuscaloosa, two powerful rams, were sunk in Spanish River before the evacuation. Our naval forces are now busily engaged in blowing up and removing the obstructions in the main ship channel, which have proved to be very formidable and full of torpedoes, although we are removing them rapidly. I regret to inform the department the tug Ida has been destroyed by a torpedo, whilst engaged in this work, as well as a launch of the Cincinnati, and that the tug Althea was destroyed in dragging for torpedoes in Blakely River; also that the gunboat Scioto was sunk, yesterday, whilst under way running across the bar, in twelve feet water. There is

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Old Magazines for the Soldiers.

All persons who may find, at this season of moving, any old Harper's or other magazine or illustrated newspapers among their useless lumber, are requested to send them to the Battery Barracks Reading Room, where they are much needed and will be thankfully received by the soldiers. And if any person residing in the country has these to spare, and will send them by express, the price of transportation will be cheerfully paid by the Librarian on the arrival of the parcel. Address—Thomas F. Dahlgren, Librarian, Reading Room, Battery Barracks, New-York.

Board of Education.

ALTERATIONS AND REPAIRS TO SCHOOL-HOUSES—A NEW SCHOOL BUILDING—COLORED SCHOOL DISCONTINUED.

The board held an adjourned meeting, last evening, President McLean in the chair. The business of the session was mainly routine. The recommendation of a committee, that $28,000 be appropriated for making alterations and repairs in Grammar School-house No. 15, in the Eleventh Ward, the work to be done in the Board's Workshop, was adopted, as was also a resolution recommending an appropriation of $7,000 for altering and repairing Grammar School-house No. 45, in the Sixteenth Ward. It is in contemplation to move the Bay't Department from this school, and convert the edifice into a Grammar School for girls.

A rather sharp discussion, in which Commissioners Dupignac, Miller, Tuthill, and Farr engaged, rose when it was proposed that the School Trustees of the Fifth Ward be empowered to lease for another year the premises wherein Colored School No. 3 is held. Commissioner Miller, from the committee that had been appointed to ascertain whether the building was worth the $800 annual rent which the landlord demands, and which the trustees of the Fifth Ward propose to pay, reported that the place is ill-adapted to school purposes; that it is not worth more than $600, the rent now paid; that there are but fifty pupils who receive instruction in the school, and that they may readily be transferred to the Laurens-street school in the Eighth Ward. Commissioner Tuthill concurred. Commissioner Dupignac thought that if the board refused to pay $800 rent for the building they would thus virtually discontinue this school, and thus, without notice, dismiss teachers and others who have worked faithfully for the board for twelve years or longer. It was stated to be the intention to close this school next year, and under this statement the board elected to adhere to its resolution to pay no more than $600 rent for the building.

Commissioner Miller, from the Committee on School Buildings, reported in favor of appropriating $750 for alterations and repairs to the assembly-rooms of Female Grammar School No. 22, in the Sixth Ward, and the board ordered that the appropriation be made.

A resolution, which had previously given the board a world of trouble, was adopted, authorizing the trustees of the Ninth Ward to advertise for proposals for rebuilding Grammar School-house No. 41 in that ward.

Commissioner Hasen offered a resolution, which was discussed by Commissioners Roosevelt, Nellson, Farr and Miller, authorizing the Committee on Supplies to provide small magnetic globes for the principals of Primary Schools. This resolution was referred to the Committee on the Course of Studies, and the board adjourned.

Naval Movements.

OFFICIAL CHANGES AT THE NAVY-YARD.

Yesterday Capt. Pennock, United States Navy, assumed the duties of Executive Officer of the Brooklyn Navy-yard, vice Capt. Case, detached. Capt. Pennock has always been a favorite in naval circles. Capt. Augustus L. Case, his predecessor, will sail in the Colorado for the Mediterranean, as soon as that vessel is ready for sea, to assume his duties as Fleet Captain of the squadron in those waters, under Rear-Admiral Goldsborough, who has already been appointed to the command of the European Squadron.

On Monday morning, May 1, the arduous duties of Rear-Admiral Hiram Paulding, Commandant of the Navy-yard, will cease, he giving place to Rear-Admiral Charles H. Bell, who formerly commanded the Pacific Squadron. The services of both of these officers are interwoven in the history of the times, and need no comment.

THE LADY STERLING IN COMMISSION.

The yacht of our lamented President Lincoln, the U. S. steamer Lady Sterling, one of the best appointed vessels in our navy, was put in commission Monday at 10 A. M. Her Commander will be Pierre Giraud, who has during the war been twice promoted for gallantry at Charleston and at Mobile. At the latter place he commanded the U. S. steamer Tennessee. The following officers reported on board the Lady Sterling to Capt. Jarrett, Lieutenant-Commander of the yard: Lieutenant Commander, Pierre Giraud; Acting Master, Wm. Tallman; Acting Ensigns, S. W. Cosing, A. P. Bashfort, Geo. Chamberlain, H. B. Francis; Acting Assistant Paymaster, C. H. Lockwood; Acting Second Assistant Engineers, W. Stolesburgh, Henry Hurbinsen; Acting Third Assistant, Joseph Pritchold.

PROGRESS OF THE STRIKE.

The strike is as effectively carried out at the Navy-yard, by the mechanics, as could be expected. Nobody is at work in the yard, except a few apprentices. A meeting of the several trade societies will be held to-day, the ship-carpenters among the rest, when a determination as to their future course will be made. The general feeling among the mechanics is that they are willing to accede to the reduced wages which the government has imposed upon them, which will be 50 cents per idiem reduction on all the strikers, embracing 4,000 workmen. The demand for their labor is very pressing, as there are three or four vessels waiting to be overhauled.

Fires.

IN FORTY-EIGHTH-STREET.

Mr. E. F. Frank's soap factory, on the northwest corner of Forty-eighth-street and Eleventh-avenue, was destroyed, at about 1 o'clock yesterday morning, by fire of incendiary origin. The loss is estimated at $500. Whether Mr. Frank was insured or otherwise does not appear.

IN DIVISION-STREET.

At about 4 o'clock yesterday morning, a fire, of unknown origin, was discovered on the third floor of the dwelling No. 186 Division-street. The flames spread with great rapidity on both sides, and soon enveloped the upper stories of Nos. 184 and 188 Division-street; but here they were checked and subdued by the firemen, with loss not exceeding about $1,800. Mr. O'Keef, dealer in boots and shoes, on the first floor of No. 184 Division-street, estimates his loss at $400, and is insured for $1,000 by the Stuyvesant Company; Mr. Isaac Wolf, who is insured in the Rutger's office, lost about $100; Messrs. R. Actern and Peter Caldwell, who had apartments on the third floor of No. 184, lost about $200, and are not insured; Mr. Nicholas Oysterman, dealer in second-hand furniture, on the first floor of No. 188, lost $100 from damage by water, and is not insured. The buildings, which are owned by Mr. C. G. Spencer, were damaged to the extent of $1,000. Fire-Marshal Baker will institute an investigation touching the origin of this fire.

SUPERIOR COURT—PART SECOND.

Before Judge Garvin and a Jury.

David Wallenstein and David Kunst vs. The Columbian Insurance Co.—On the 12th of December, 1862, the ship Mortimer Livingston sailed from Havre, France, bound for the port of New-York heavily laden with coffee and wool. On the 24th of the following January the ship was wrecked off Cape May. The plaintiffs had from the defendants, what is technically termed an open policy whereby the cargo was insured for $20,000. It was a condition in the policy given by the defendants that they were to be held liable in case of total loss only. After the storm which occasioned the loss of the vessel had subsided, a body of wreckers went down, secured a portion of the wool, but they refused to go after the coffee, considering it worthless. The defendants, however, after much effort, succeeded in getting up a very small part of the coffee, which they put in bags, and subsequently tendered to the plaintiffs, who refused to accept, choosing rather to bring their suit for the full amount of the coffee lost, $20,000. The defendants claim that inasmuch as they were not liable on the policy except for a total loss, and the coffee not being a total loss, they can not be held liable. The trial was not concluded when the court adjourned.

For the plaintiffs, Messrs. O'Connor and Dunning; for defendants, Mr. A. C. Morris.

Alleged False Representations in the Sale of Real Estate.

SUPREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM.—APRIL 26.

Before Judge Sutherland.

John S. Wright et al. vs. Edwin Parsons and Samuel S. Taylor, Trustees, &c.—The plaintiffs, in the year 1855, entered into a contract with the trustees of some real estate located in the then small town of Cairo, Ill., which, as our readers know, is at the junction of the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. There were 3,211 shares of all the beneficial interest in the lands sold to the plaintiffs. The par value was $160 per share, but it seems the plaintiffs paid the sum of $20 per share. At the time of the sale the grantees gave to each of the purchasers an agreement to repurchase the shares on certain conditions, and within a certain specified time, and they, the trustees, if they purchased were to pay $25 per share. Afterward the plaintiffs gave up this obligation and accepted inconvertible stock, or, in other words, stock as to which there was no obligation to repurchase. To make up for the difference in value of the two kinds of stock, the plaintiffs accepted also a conveyance of sixty-two lots of land in the City of Cairo. After the arrangements thus made, it was discovered by the plaintiffs, as they allege, that they had been induced to make the original purchase, as well as the subsequent exchange, by reason of false representations, emanating from the trustees. The plaintiffs charge that the quantity of land embraced in the trust property was misrepresented, and also that the value thereof was greatly lessened in consequence of its liability to inundation by the Mississippi and Ohio Rivers. They also say that the strength and sufficiency of the levies had been greatly overstated. The statement as to the natural situation of the land, and the damage necessarily resulting from the works of the Illinois Central Railroad along the two rivers had furthermore misled the plaintiffs. They therefore brought this action against the successors of the original trustees from whom they made the purchase, and seek to recover the sum of $720,000 damages. The trial was not concluded when the court adjourned.

Notice to the Bar.

New-York Common Pleas, April 26, 1865.

COURT OF GENERAL SESSIONS.

Before Recorder Hoffman.

This court opened yesterday morning after an adjournment of ten days. No cases being ready for trial, however, Mr. Henry A. Crane, counsel for Mr. Peter Stroag, announced that he should move to quash the indictment against his client, and the argument of the motion was set down for this morning. John Denny, previously convicted of obtaining money under false pretences, was sent to the State Prison for three years. John Wyman, convicted of stealing $280 from a discharged soldier, was sent to the same place for two years. The court adjourned until this morning at 11 o'clock.

Business has been resumed on the Stock Exchange and on Wall-street, after the funeral ceremonies of the past two days, with marked activity, and a general further advance in prices for Government and Railway Stocks, as compared with the close of last week. The great ease in Money encourages speculation in the Railways, while firmly supporting the demand from all parts of the country for the Gold-bearing Funded Stocks of the Government, the issues of which have been determined until August, 1867, when the first series of the 7-30 Currency Loan is made convertible. The additional advance in the 5-20s is ¼@1 ℔ cent., and the same on the 10-40s. Outside the Street, the employment for Money is at the rate of four millions a day in the Second Series of the 7-30 Loan, convertible after 15th June, 1868.

The Railways, both East and West, were in high favor at the Stock Boards to-day, and the demand very large for nearly all descriptions. The New-York lines were up to 102 for Central, 83½ for Erie, and 112½ ℔ cent. for Hudson. The Central Stock advanced on the passage through the Legislature of the Bill to remove the restriction of two cents ℔ mile on the Passenger fares. The proceedings at the popular meeting at Rochester last night against this measure, and other, but less public indications to-day, lead to the speculation on the Street that Gov. Fenton may possibly withhold his approval of the Bill. But this consideration had only very partial weight in keeping down the price at the Board. The Western Stocks were generally advanced from 1 to 2½ ℔ cent.

A larger demand than usual of late for Bills on London, for the Boston steamer of to-day, created a firm feeling in the Gold market late on Monday afternoon, which continued through the early dealings to-day, the advance being from 149½@150 to 151½@152 ℔ cent. At the close of the day the rate relapsed to 151@150¾ ℔ cent.

At 4 o'clock the following quotations were made for Stocks, as compared with last Saturday afternoon. The general market left off firm:

We learn that the cheap price of the Ohio and Mississippi Certificates, representing the Common Stock interest in the broadguage Road from Cincinnati to St. Louis have recently attracted the attention of the friends and Stock and Bondholders in England ot the Atlantic and Great Western Road, whose connexions with the West are directly with the Ohio and Mississippi. Some considerable parcels of these Certificates have already been sent to London.

The day's business at the Office of the Assistant Treasurer was as follows: Total receipts, $5,596,697 17; including for Customs, $447,000; total payments, $3,162,675 49; on account of loan, $1,465,000; balance, $35,674,157 53.

The week's exports of Domestic Produce and Miscellaneous Goods amounted to $2,008,843, against $2,953,674 same week last year.

The subscriptions and sales of 7-80s, at the Ninth National Bank to-day, amount to $370,300.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Our correspondent at Havana writes that the news of the assassination of President LINCOLN created intense horror and indignation among the people of that city, and that the open exultation of the Confederates over the atrocious crime excited general disgust and reprobation.

A dispatch to the Toronto Globe, dated on the 24th, says there were rumors in circulation that the assassins of President LINCOLN had arrived in that city. The raiders discharged at Toronto were there last week.

Admiral THATCHER'S report of the surrender of Mobile is made public by the Navy Department. The main facts have already appeared in our special correspondence.

All restrictions on passes to Richmond were removed yesterday. All persons can now go there provided they do not travel on government transports.

FROM EUROPE.

The steamship Africa, with Queenstown advices to the 16th inst., arrived at Halifax last evening. The news of the fall of Richmond created intense excitement in England, but it arrived too late to admit of the papers generally commenting on it. As most of the markets had closed from the 13th to the 17th, the full effect of the news was not developed when the Africa sailed. The rebel loan, however, declined about six per cent., closing at 23@25; while Five-Twenties were quoted at 64½@65½. The news from the Continent is generally unimportant.

GENERAL NEWS.

By the arrival at this port yesterday of the steamer Columbia we have Havana dates up to the 24th inst. A new use has been discovered for played-out blockade-runners. Reliable accounts say that the Ptarmigan has been painted black, and is being refitted out for the slave trade. It is also very probable that others of this kind of craft will follow the same business. Desertions of sailors from our gunboats at Havana are becoming frequent, ccurring every time a vessel puts into that port. They are probably enticed on board of blockade-runners. News comes from MEXICO that CRTINAS has suddenly declared against the Empire, and besieged Matamoras, which was defended by Gen. MEJIA with only 500 men. CORTINAS had 5,000 or 6,000 under his command. At last accounts he had gained possession of the suburbs of Matamoras, and would probably capture the city.

Gen. WILLIAM COOK, the Chief Engineer of the Camden and Amboy Railroad, died in Hoboken on Friday evening last. He was taken ill about two weeks ago with pleurisy, which afterward turned to typhoid fever of a malignant form. Gen. COOK was a graduate of West Point, and entered the United States cavalry, where he remained until the construction of the Camden and Amboy Railroad, when he resigned his position in the army, and entered the service of that company as engineer. While connected with the company he maintained a high political position in the Democratic party. He was a delegate to the Cincinnati Convention in 1856, and an elector on the fusion ticket of 1860. In 1862 he received from the Governor of New-Jersey the appointment of Major-General, by brevet. He was the brother-in-law of ROBERT J. WALKER, a former Secretary of the Treasury.

The steamship Ariel, from Aspinwall, arrived at this port yesterday, bringing $69,676 in treasure. Her dates are to the 17th inst. Rumors of fresh outbreaks were prevalent at Panama, but no disturbances had taken place. The principal item of news from Central America is the expected death of Gen. CARRERA. It was feared that the Indians, who regard CARRERA with superstitious reverence, would revolt as soon as his death was announced, and measures were being taken to preserve the peace of the republics. The President of Honduras issued a decree of non-intercourse with Costa Rica on the ground that the latter had afforded an asylum to Gen. BARRIOS.

JUNIUS BRUTUS BOOTH was arrested at Philadelphia yesterday, and sent to Washington. The reason is supposed to be found in a letter of his to WILKES BOOTH, recently published, in which he says something about the "oil business" having failed. It is surmised that this story of WILKES' making money in oil was a mere blind to excuse his absence from the stage while he was watching for an opportunity to commit his great crime.

We are glad to learn that all due precaution is taken by the President and those about him against any attempt upon his life. A sufficient body-guard—the same that attended Mr. LINCOLN—is on duty, and the access of unaccredited persons is rendered reasonably difficult.

Mr. DANIEL SPICER, of Plainfield, N. J., was thrown from a wagon and killed, on Tuesday afternoon, at the intersection of Thirteenth-street and Third-avenue.

Major HIGGINSON, of Andersonville renown, passed through Fortress Monroe on the 24th inst., en route for Washington, D. C. He came by special boat from Morehead City.

LOCAL NEWS.

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Education, last evening, an appropriation of $28,000 was made for repairing Grammar School-house, No. 15, in the Eleventh Ward; $7,000 was appropriated for altering and repairing Grammar School-house, No. 45, in the Sixteenth Ward, and other routine business was transacted.

The Police Justices yesterday disposed of a large number of pickpockets who were caught in the act of snatching watches, wallets, &c., from citizens who were among the densely-packed multitudes witnessing the pageant on Tuesday afternoon. Several of the prisoners are ticket-of-leave men.

At about 4 o'clock, yesterday morning, the upper stories of Nos. 184, 186 and 188 Division-street, occupied by Messrs. O'KEEFE R. AUTERN, ISAAC WOLF, NICHOLAS OYSTERMAN and PETER CALDWELL, were consumed, with loss reaching about $1,600.

Mrs. ELIZA FITZGERALD fell from the roof of No. 233 East Broadway, on Tuesday afternoon, and was impaled on an iron spike. Her right leg, left arm, and skull were fractured, and she died shortly subsequent to her admission to Bellevue Hospital.

Capt. PETER DE COUNT PICHLER, who had been four years in the war and twice wounded, received a rebel bullet in the head in a late battle before Richmond, and died at his abode, No. 61 Fifth-street, on Tuesday afternoon.

The Coroners are daily holding inquests on large numbers of corpses that are rising to the rapidly warming surface-waters of the river. The bodies are generally held a day or two, at Bellevue Hospital, for identification.

Last evening, the Right Rev. Dr. COXE delivered an interesting lecture, at the Church of the Incarnation, on the subject of the Russo-Greek Church.

Government gold-bearing bonds were in brisk demand yesterday, at a further improvement of ⅛@1 ℔ cent. on both the six and five per cents. The Sixes of 1881 were up to 109⅛@109⅜, old and new 5-20s to 108⅜@108⅝, and the 10-40's to 97@97⅛. The latest London reports (to April 13) quoted United States 5-20s very active, closing strong at 60, or an advance of 2 per cent. on the figures reported by the preceding mail. Advices of a further and much more important rise are expected by the English steamers of April 15, 18 and 19, all due this week, and by the Scotia, to April 23, duenext week, as the response to the news from us of the defeat of LEE, which led not only to the fall of Richmond and Petersburgh, but to the speedy surrender of the chief army of the psuedo Confederacy. With the prevailing ease in money here, and the anticipation of a heavy increase of foreign orders for our funded Stocks, leading operators confidently expect prompt appreciation in the market price of our national gold bearing bonds to, at least, the rates current a year ago. On this day last year, with the war in full progress, the Sixes of 1881 were as high as 114⅛@114⅜, and the 5-20s, 111⅛@112; while the 10-40s were in active popular request at par, adding the accrued coin interest at the rate of gold at 150.

A more active business was transacted yesterday in the leading kinds of Produce and Merchandise, at generally firmer prices. Cotton and Cotton Goods were decidedly dearer. The Dry Goods trade reported heavier sales of desirable fabrics, at much firmer prices, both privately and through the auction rooms. The auction sales were well attended, and resulted more satisfactorily. At the public sale of Scranton Coal, 25,500 tons were disposed of, at from $6 47@$8 05 ℔ ton of 2,240 lbs., deliverable at Elizabethport, N. J. The Freight market was dull.

The demand for the 7-30 Loan is unusually active this week. The average of the daily subscriptions is up to $4,149,500, (as against the daily average of $3,054,140 last week, and $3,665,208 the preceding week,) as follows: Monday, $4,275,650; Tuesday, $4,023,350. The orders for the $50 and $100 notes of the Loan have averaged 3,407 a day.

Business on the Stock Exchange was resumed yesterday, and a large advance was made on the prices of Saturday afternoon. On Government Stocks 1 ℔ cent., and on the New-York and Western Railways from 2½ to 4 ℔ cent. Money easy. Gold 150¾@151 ℔ cent.

Last evening the Stock Market was active and firm. After the call, gold sold at 149¾, and that was the closing price.

JOHN O'BRIEN, Esq., Treasurer of the Second-Avenue Railroad Company will receive subscriptions towards the "Lincoln Monument," at the depot, corner Forty-third-street and Second-avenue, where a list for signatures can be found.

Military Success and Strict Accountability—Gen. Sherman's Case.

Some of the Democratic journals justify and applaud Gen. SHERMAN'S stipulations with the rebel JOHNSTON. Others, more chary, do not venture to approve these stipulations outright, yet complain that Gen. SHERMAN is too harshly judged. Their particular plea is that in his military capacity he has rendered great service. This is no reason for exempting him from any censure that he deserves. On the contrary, it is the very reason why the government and the people should pass upon his action with the strictest justice.

All history, ancient and modern, teaches that republican liberties are oftener subverted by successful Generals than by any other agency. The cause of it is plain enough. There is an eclat in military success which is sure to give great popularity; and there is a personal pride in it, with a sense of power, which is very apt to stimulate inordinate ambition. Military habits, too, are directly calculated to foster an arbitrary disposition, and an impatience of constitutional restraints. The successful chieftain, having a greater hold upon the popular heart than a civilian can often obtain and having, too, peculiar impulses to assume undue power, it is not strange that civil freedom should have so often suffered from great characters of that class. The favorite prognostication of our enemies has been that this republic would, sooner or later, be thus overturned. In fact, some of the best minds, in the earlier days of our own country, were constantly haunted with this apprehension. It was not mere party excitement that impelled HENRY CLAY'S invocation in the Senate for war, pestilence and famine, rather than a military President. It was in perfect harmony with the old mode of thinking upon the subject.

Now, we do not ourselves consider it possible for any military man to do permanent damage to our Constitutional liberties. But why is it not possible? Simply because the American people have intelligence enough and staunchness enough to hold their military servants to the same strict account that they do their civil servants. No distinction ought to be made; and, thank heaven, none is made. Among all the many demonstrations which have been afforded in this war, of the sovereign and complete capacity of our people for self-government, not one is more conclusive than this very promptness on their part to condemn sternly the action of a General who was but just now one of their two greatest favorites. Gen. SHERMAN has assumed power which does not belong to him, and which his circumstances could not at all excuse. The people instantly saw the error, and instantly reprobated it. The sudden reversal of their feeling toward Gen. SHERMAN, instead of its being a proof of their fickleness, is the best proof possible of their firmness. It shows how they can hold fast to principle, in spite of all partialities. We may be sure that so long as the American people retain this grand quality, their liberties can never be in danger from military aspirants.

Of course we are not to be understood as implying that Gen. SHERMAN, in assuming the power to override what he knew to be the unconditional-surrender policy of the national government, had any design against that government. As a sane man, he could have had no such purpose. With the imperfect data before us, we do not undertake to fix what it was that really prompted him. It is enough for our present purpose to know that his action was palpably wrong—so grossly wrong as to admit of no possible justification; and that the promptness with which this has been denounced is a new proof that not any splendor of military achievement can blind or dazzle our people.

The Era of Assassins.

We had a rumor in town yesterday that Gen. GRANT had been assassinated. The only noteworthy feature of the case was that nobody deemed it impossible, or even unlikely. While every one shuddered at the terrible consequences of such an occurrence, no one could feel that it was not quite as likely to happen as many things which have happened already.

We beg the government at Washington to understand—what the nation knows and profoundly feels—that we have fallen upon the ERA OF ASSASSINATION. We have reached, in the cause of our terrible civil war, that stage which marks every such period, when fierce fanatics in the conquered ranks feel justified in retrieving or revenging the ruin of their cause by secret murders. It is well established that the assassination of President LINCOLN was not the sudden act of an isolated madman; it was deliberately planned, carefully arranged and most skillfully executed. We have the official assurance of the Secretary of War that it was planned in Canada and approved at Richmond. Evidence is not wanting to make it almost certain it grew out of a gigantic conspiracy, embracing hundreds of persons in its scope, having plenty of money to advance their object, and aiming, deliberately and upon calculation, at nothing less than the murder of all the leading members of the Executive Government, and the consequent plunging of the country into political anarchy. The work planned by that conspiracy is as yet but half performed; and what reason have we for assuming that its final and full completion has been abandoned?

Secretary SEWARD has said, since the great catastrophe, that he considered himself and the whole government as having been criminal in a very high degree for not taking effectual measures for the preservation of Mr. LINCOLN'S life. They will be doubly criminal if, after the terrible warning they have had, they fail to protect the life of ANDREW JOHNSON. The chances of his assassination are far greater than were those of Mr. LINCOLN'S murder two weeks ago. The conspirators have had a taste of blood. They have seen one of their designated victims fall. If they stop here their whole scheme reacts. The government to-day is far stronger than it was before LINCOLN was slain. The hatred of the rebellion is wider and more intense. And JOHNSON'S hand upon the rebels will be heavier far than would have been that hand which they have palsied forever. Naturally their desire to be rid of President JOHNSON will be far more intense, as their interest is far greater, than was their desire to remove Mr. LINCOLN. Nor has anything happened thus far either to daunt the resolution of men fanatical enough to undertake such a work, or to render its execution impossible.

We beg the government at Washington to take full precautions against the assassination of the President. The people of the whole nation demand it. It is not a question of personal feeling, nor of appearances. It is a matter of stern, imperative, overruling necessity, and the more thoroughly this is felt and acted upon by President JOHNSON and his Cabinet, the calmer and more contented will be the public mind.

The Nemesis of Slavery.

Slavery has written its guilt and its folly on the record of history, as no other human crime has ever done. It has insanely sought to overthrow the best structure of government which mankind ever erected; it has deluged this continent with the blood of our noblest and best; it has piled on us mountains of debt, and thrown civil discord into a happy people. In its mad efforts, it has ruined the hopes and desolated the country of its supporters; and now, when just dying under the executioner's stroke, with garments stained with the best blood of the nation, it turns to strike with assassin's blow at the head of the republic, and culminates its long course of iniquities by a crime which, in dishonor, cowardice and atrocity, is almost without a parallel in history. It was not enough that it should die amid the flames of burning cities and with the wails of thousands of widows and orphans whom its crimes had desolated; it adds to all its guilt the stain of private murder and base assassination of the purest public man of the day.

And yet in its dying crime the finger of the dread Nemesis—the retribution of Providence—is still plainly visible. To us, who once bore something of the responsibility of its accursed guilt, it strikes down the one best beloved, most honored, who had been identified with the great struggle of the nation, and was now just leading its triumph. We could have received no keener blow.

And yet, like the crimes of the guilty, this sin will bring no advantage to its perpetrators or approvers. It exposes to the world and all history the fearful character of that crime, against which the nation has been struggling; for all men will see that from no society under the blue sky, except a slave-holding society, could a deed so revengeful, so mean, have arisen. It evidently belongs to the same category with the selling of human beings, the burning alive of unfortunate and helpless slaves, and the starving and insulting of prisoners.

But here too, the folly and the retribution of slavery are seen. The secession assassin, in his blind frenzy, strikes down the kindest friend of the South in all the North one just planning measures of good-will toward the rebels, and in a moment when the people of the Free States were inclined to fall into almost an excess of leniency, and to forgive every one. In place of compassion the murderer now kindles up a fire of inextinguishable hate and wrath in the hearts of the Northern people. All thoughts of clemency to the leaders have been swept away by the storm of indignation which is now aroused. And in place of the mild and forgiving President, they have put into power over the South a man who has felt the iron of oppression in his soul, who knows the crushing weight of the slaveholding aristocracy on the masses, and has himself experienced the diabolical spirit of the rebellion; a man of generous nature, but whose feeling and whose principle will be to crush to atoms the proud, rebellious class of the South and to exterminate the rebellion. Slavery has elected her own judge from the very class she has most wronged; she has chosen her executioner. Let her abide the result!

In these grand events we may all, without hypocrisy, attempt to read Heaven's purpose; and if anything now is clear to the people, it is that that institution and those men which have begotten the rebellion, and now, having failed on the battle-field, are madly trying the assassin's weapons, should be utterly extirpated from the land, and the South itself be thoroughly and forever revolutionized.

THE NEWS OF OUR VICTORIES IN EUROPE.—The news from Europe, to-day, gives us the first intimation of the effect of the victories at and around Richmond, on the British public. Our friends—so long, steadily and faithfully represented in the London Daily News, Star and Manchester Examiner naturally give expression to their satisfaction with the resistless evidences of our crowning triumph. The Daily News pithily says: "DAVIS began the war by declaring he would carry it where food for the torch awaited Southern armies in densely populated cities, but the attempt to burn New-York ended in nothing but an execution, while DAVIS set his borrowed capital in flames and decamped." The full effect of the news, financially, could not be seen by reason of its arrival at the close of Passion Week; Good Friday, the day preceding the sailing of the Africa, being of course a holiday. Still, United States securities are quoted at an advance, while the rebel loan is down to 23. The "leading journal," with its usual expertness in changing it base, has discovered all at once, that it is altogether wrong in the Australian Colonists to show any sort of favor to the pirates of the Shenandoah. It is also fain to quarrel with the Canadian Solon, Justice SMITH, for releasing the St. Albans murderers. At this rate, it will be able to claim before the lapse of another week, that it has all along foreseen the triumph of the Union.

SHERMAN AND BRECKINRIDGE.—The manner in which BRECKINRIDGE brought about the SHERMAN surrender seems to have been altogether perfect. One of the rebel's best devices was to put our commander entirely off his guard on the question of slavery. "The discussion of slavery is at an end," said this arch-traitor. "The amendment to the Constitution abolishing slavery will be accepted by the people of the South." Yet the wily outlaw brought his victim to the humiliating point of signing an instrument designed to make the institution of slavery perpetual.

Obituary.

DEATH OF DR. VALENTINE MOTT.

New-York has lost one of her most illustrious sons. The eminent surgeon, the honored, kind, and philanthropic citizen. VALENTINE MOTT, M. D., L.L. D., died last night at his residence, No. 1 Gramercy Park. Dr. MOTT was born in Glencove, L.I., Aug. 20, 1785. His father, Dr. HENRY MOTT, was for many years a practicing physician in this city. The son graduated at Columbia College in 1806, and immediately went to Europe, where he pursued his studies with great zeal and success. Three years later, at the age of 24, he was called to the chair of surgery in Columbia College, remaining there until 1813. In 1826, he, with Drs. HOSACK, MITCHELL, FRANCIS, and others, established the Rutgers Medical College. About 1830 he began to devote his time to lectures and instruction, and his great abilities have ever since been the pride of the profession. His position as a surgeon was second to no living professor, and challenged from the renowned Sir ASTLEY COOPER the remarkable eulogy: "He has performed more of the great operations than any man living, or that ever did live." Dr. MOTT has left several works of great value to science and literature, among them a translation of "Velpeau's Surgery," the "Mott Cliniques," "Travels in Europe and the East," "Transactions of the New-York Academy of Medicine," &c. Like the departure of HOSACK, MITCHELL and FRANCIS, his co-laborers, the death of Dr. MOTT will mark an era in the history of the profession.

DEATH OF MR. CHAS. STEINWAY.

Death sweeps over the land with so swift and dark a wing, that we can hardly detect in its black shadow whose friend has fallen. Whilst Mr. ALBERT STEINWAY was following the body of his chief—whom we all mourned with womanly eyes—to the grave, the news came from Europe that his brother had died. He did not know it. It was his unhappy fate to lament one calamity, and to go home to a new one. May the family have peace; their tears have run through many months. Mr. CHARLES STEINWAY was a member of the well-known Fourteenth street piano-forte making firm—a firm which at great personal cost carried the American flag into London in 1862, and by the virtue of unquestioned merit—we say this emphatically, because we were there—carried off the first prize. He was a good, honest, true man; a master of his business, and very much overwrought in it. To help his failing health, he went to Europe a year ago. He placed himself under a physician, and patiently attained to convalescence. Desiring to see the principal cities of his native land before returning to the country of his adoption, he ventured on a trip which exceeded his strength, and he died at Brunswick, Germany, April 1, after a sickness of twenty-four days, of typhoid fever. Mr. CHARLES STEINWAY breathed his last in the house of his brother, Mr. THEODORE STEINWAY, who represented the European branch of the business in that city. The house was eminent, not only here, but throughout the continent of Europe, and precisely the prominence that the instruments they made attained in the United States did they enjoy in Germany and in England. The operations of the house will be circumscribed by the calamity which has overtaken it. Mr. THEODORE STEINWAY will abandon the German branch of the establishment, and at once assume an active part in the headquarters at New-York.

Amusements.

BROADWAY THEATRE.—Mr. and Mrs. CHARLES KEAN—old favorites of our public—reappeared here last evening. They have been honored by the generation that has gone, they come merely to take farewell of that which is going. In England Mr. and Mrs. CHARLES KEAN have played a large and active part in all that has made the drama honorable there. As artists they have been an example to the younger kind. We recall, with no effort, the good words that have been spoken of them many thousand miles beyond their hearance. The great Shakesperian revival which we have all in some sort shared was inaugurated by them, and its best fruits were ripened in the theatre which they managed—the Princess' in London. No history of Shakespeare can of course be perfect without a reference to the name of KEAN—but Mr. and Mrs. CHARLES KEAN, who are now here, have assuredly achieved the modern and scenically possible reputation of the great bard.

It was unfortunate that such artists were compelled to perform at a theatre where the opportunity of being correct is not often seized, even if it be presented; where, in fact, no approximately good artists were likely to be present to assist them. But in saying this—and in doing so we refer to many painful inadequacies of last evening's performance—it is only proper to remember that by the courtesy of Mr. OWENS alone did Mr. and Mrs. CHAS. KEAN have an opportunity of saying farewell to their American friends at all. The Broadway Theatre is not, in the strict acceptance of the term, a star theatre. It lacks the company to give it even this small status. The genius of a particular man, Mr. OWENS, has given it a distinct popularity. Whoever desires to see Mr. OWENS can see him to advantage on the stage of the house. The necessities of the establishment do not really require the entourage of tragedy, and do not extend to the possibility of its performance.

So it comes about that many scenes of "Henry VIII." were hardly removed from burlesque. A poor old Cardinal, great in his fall, great in the lesson which he drew from it, was never, surely, so bullied by underlings. Were the thing decent, we would sink to its level, and try with a willing pen to raise it to an ordinary point of general remark. But it was not. We cannot permit Mr. and Mrs. KEAN to leave our shores with an impression that such acting as they tolerated last evening would for any lengthened period be submitted to by any audience in New-York, nor would we have them think that the incongruities of scenery—absolutely laughable—were the rule of our theatres.

The tragedy ends with the fall of Wolsey. It is condensed into three acts, a proceeding which we protest against. Mrs. KEAN was especially good in the trial scene, and subsequently in her interview with the Cardinal and Campius. Her declamation was always temperate; her action suggestive, her bearing ladylike. To these merits, which we may credit to art and the good breeding of an accepted position, must be added the charm of a soft but penetrating voice. Mr. KEAN'S opportunity was in the last (third) act, where, we have no hesitation in saying, he was great. Nothing could be more touching or manly than his final speech to Cromwell. The whole vanity of human ambition was exposed meekly in those broken words of lament, those choking utterances of sorrow, that he had not served God as he had served his King. The utter expression of desertion which he thus illustrated was in fact overwhelming.

COLMAN'S comedy, (also compressed) of the "Jealous Wife" followed, and was most admirably rendered by the artists who had made the previous piece tolerable. Beyond this general expression of appreciation it is unnecessary to go. It is in fact unnecessary to say a word about the KEANS. They come for no reputation that we can give them. Countless lines have told their merit. It is only to recognize the latter and say good-bye.

A tremendous call brought Mr. KEAN before the curtain, (the gentleman and his wife had previously enjoyed the same token of approval,) and he spoke the few words which we give below:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: Accept, I pray, the warmest thanks of Mrs. KEAN and myself for the cordial reception and for the brilliant assemblage with which you have this evening honored us.

We return to this great city under the influence of strong and various emotions, for our visit brings to us a train of thoughts and feelings, recalling many interesting associations and awakening many grateful remembrances.

Years have elapsed, and not a few of my early acquaintances have passed away since, almost at the commencement of my professional career, I landed a friendless youth upon your hospitable shores, where I received that applause and encouragement which kindled the first glow of hope that I might one day attain success. That career is now drawing to a close, and once more for the fourth and last time, I come amongst you, accompanied by my wife, whom as ELLEN TREE you received with so much favor and encircled with so many friends, to bid farewell, before we shake off the cares and toils of public life for the calm enjoyment of rest and retirement. Once again, ladies and gentlemen, I beg to offer our heartfelt acknowledgments.

GERMAN OPERA TO-NIGHT IN BROOKLYN.—The troupe of Mr. GROVER will appear to-night at the Brooklyn Academy in the opera "Don Freischutz." The former performances of this week in Brooklyn have drawn crowded audiences, and we doubt not that Mr. GROVER'S enterprise will meet the reception it merits.

Musical.

GERMAN OPERA.—Mr. GROVER'S season of German opera commenced here last evening. The house was comfortably filled by an appreciative audience, our public not having yet recovered from the shock of recent events. MEYERBEER'S opera of "Robert il Diavolo" was performed. The orchestra, so important in these works, was larger than that of last year, having been reinforced by many of our best resident musicians. The chorus was effective and precise in a high degree. Among the performers, Messrs. FORMES and HABELMANN, and Mme. FREDERICI, most excelled. FORMES was in better voice than heretofore, and his acting was almost perfect; giving to the character of Bertram a harmonious and logical development which is rarely seen on the lyric stage. Herr HABELMANN sang capitally, and was encored in the duet with Bertram, although his high notes are still defective in delivery. Mme. FREDERICI sang the part of Alice recognizably well. If she did not lay too much stress on her lower notes—for the purpose of showing them—she might possibly avoid the harsh intonations which struck the ear too often last evening. Her "Va dit elle" was satisfactory, with the exception of the conclusion. The trio in the second act was not so good. Mme. JOHANNSON being sick, Mme. ROTTER sang the part of Isabella, and acquitted herself very creditably. The sickness of the lady named renders it necessary to give "Faust" on Friday, instead of the "Jewess." To-night "Der Freischutz" will be performed in Brooklyn.

The ballet part of the performance was unusually well rendered, and Mlle. WOOD made a very favorable impression as Helena.

CONDITION OF SECRETARY SEWARD AND HIS SON.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 26—9 o'clock A. M.

Hon. E. M. Stanton:

SIR: I have the honor to report that the Secretary of State is regaining his strength rapidly, and was able to leave his room yesterday.

Mr. FREDERICK SEWARD'S condition is becoming hopeful. Very respectfully,

J. K. BARNES, Surgeon-General.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, April 26—9 o'clock P. M.

Hon. E. M. Stanton:

SIR: I have the honor to report that the Secretary of State rode out, to-day, and was benefited by it.

Mr. FREDERICK SEWARD is gaining strength as rapidly as is desirable. Very respectfully,

J. K. BARNES, Surgeon-General.

Official Mistakes.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Are our public men utterly ignorant of the great facts of Christianity, and the immemorial usages of the Christian church? Gov. FENTON, of this State, lately appointed Good Friday, the anniversary of the death of the Saviour, the most solemn fast of the Christian world, to be observed as a day of Thanksgiving; which, however, on the impropriety of such an appointment being represented to him, he afterward revoked.

President JOHNSON has just reversed the blunder, (to call it by no other name,) and appointed Thursday, May 25, which is the festival of the ascension of our Lord into Heaven, one of the great feasts of the Christian church, to be observed as a day of National Humiliation.

It is to be hoped that this appointment also will be changed to another day. D.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, April 25.

THE PRESIDENT'S SAFETY.

The statement that President JOHNSON declines all precautions for his personal safety is erroneous. True, he has not given any special directions for guards to be placed about his person, but he approves the precautions taken by the authorities, which embrace the continuance upon duty of the late President's body-guard, commanded by Lieut. J. B. JAMIESON, of Ohio. This company consists of one select man from each county in Ohio, and numbers nearly one hundred men. A sufficient force of this guard is upon duty at all times, and the visitor who calls upon the President at his temporary mansion, is confronted, immediately upon approaching the door, by three or four soldiers, who do not permit him to advance further until his name has been sent in and the order given by the President to admit him. In the hall adjoining the reception-room are also found soldiers of genteel deportment, who quietly remain about the entrance, within a few feet of Mr. JOHNSON. Sentinels also constantly surround the house upon the streets and in the lot upon which the building stands. In fact, every reasonable precaution is taken to prevent any violence being attempted upon the President.

NO MORE PASSES FOR RICHMOND REQUIRED.

It was announced to-day in the War Department that passes would no longer be required to go to Richmond. Travel to and from that place is now as free as it is to any other city in the United States. Transportation for civilians is not, however, granted upon the government mail-boat, or other government vessels.

GEN. BUTLER GOING HOME.

Gen. BUTLER, who has been here for some days past, goes to his home in Massachusetts to-morrow. As yet he has not been assigned to any special duty, though efforts have been made by influential persons to have him placed in command of this department, it being urged that his eminent executive abilities would be most fittingly applied to the management of affairs here at this juncture. It is not known that Gen. BUTLER would accept the command if tendered.

PRESENTATION OF TROPHIES.

Another presentation of captured rebel flags took place to-day in the War Department. At 10 o'clock this morning Capt. GEO. B. HALSTED, of Brevet Major-Gen. GRIFFIN'S staff, at the head of a little band of non-commissioned officers and privates, entered the reception-room of the Secretary of War. There were present three Senators, five Representatives, and a number of distinguished gentlemen—a pleasant happening on such an occasion. After reading his letter of accredence, Capt. HALSTED proceeded to read the certificates upon three flags captured by officers who were not present. The Secretary then called, one by one, the non-commissioned officers and privates present, taxing them by the hand and warmly greeting the gallant soldiers. As each approached, the circumstances attending the capture of the flag was read. An unassuming, mild-looking, small man approached. The certificate on his flag was read: "Private GEORGE I. SHOPP, of Equnnuk, Wayne County, Penn., Company E, One Hundred and Ninety-first Pennsylvania Volunteers, Third Brigade, Second Division, Fifth Army Corps, being on the advancing skirmish line at the battle of Five Forks, seeing the enemy rallying a line of battle on a stand of colors—Thirtieth Virginia—sprang forward along with a dismounted cavalryman demanding a surrender. A rebel officer called to his men to shoot the two Yankees, whereupon the cavalryman was shot dead. Private SHOPP then shot the rebel officer and seized the colors from the hands of the bearer. At this instant the skirmish line of Third Brigade, Second Division, Fifth Army Corps, charged, and the rebel line of battle fled." During the reading of this certificate the auditors drew closer and listened in breathless admiration, and at the conclusion of the reading broke out in applause. Mr. STANTON at the same time turning and giving the heroic SHOPP another hearty shake of the hand and a "God bless you, noble soldier." These flags were captured at the battle of Five Forks, Virginia, April 1, 1865.

THE ASSASSINS.

Rumors of Their Arrival at Montreal.

Dispatch to the Toronto Globe of April 25.

MONTREAL, Monday, April 24.

There are rumors about the rebel assassins being here. It is said that SURRATT came on Wednesday and left last night. The name of the Southerner in whose house he was is even mentioned. The raiders discharged in Toronto were here last week.

Arrest of Junius Brutus Booth.

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, April 26.

JUNIUS BRUTUS BOOTH was arrested in this this city at eight o'clock this morning, and taken to Washington, where he is now confined in the Old Capitol Prison.

It is understood that his arrest was caused on suspicion of his knowledge of the intention of his brother to assassinate President LINCOLN, based upon his letter to WILKES, published in yesterday morning's papers, regarding Richmond and oil.

Lee's Farewell Order to His Men.

We republish LEE'S farewell order to his men, so that our readers may see what encouragement paroled rebel officers have had from their chief, to bear themselves insolently and defiantly, on their release. The order is as follows:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF NORTHERN VIRGINIA, April 10, 1865.

GENERAL ORDER, No. 9.—After four years of arduous service, marked by unsurpassed courage and fortitude, the Army of Northern Virginia has been compelled to yield to overwhelming numbers and resources. I need not tell the survivors of so many hard-fought battles, who have remained steadfast to the last, that I have consented to this result from no distrust of them, but holding that valor and devotion could accomplish nothing that could compensate for the loss that would have attended the continuation of the contest, I have determined to avoid the useless sacrifice of those whose past vigor has endeared them to their countrymen.

By the terms of agreement, officers and men can return to their homes and remain there until exchanged. You will take with you the satisfaction that proceeds from the consequences of duty, faithfully performed, and I earnestly pray that a merciful God will extend you his blessing and protection. With an increasing admiration of your constancy and devotion to your country, and a grateful remembrance of your kind and generous consideration of myself, I bid you an affectionate farewell.

(Signed) R. E. LEE, General.

New-York and New-Haven Steamboat Line.

The railroad and steamboat connection between the New-York and New-Haven steamboats, and the New-Haven, Hartford and Springfield Railroad Commences May 1, the trains running to and from the steamboat wharf at New-Haven. Nothing could better suit the convenience and comfort of travelers in that direction. The first-class steamers of this line leave New-York daily (Sundays excepted) at 3:15 and 11 P. M.

Arrival of the Ariel.

The steamship Ariel, JONES, from Aspinwal April 17, 2 P. M., with passengers and treasure to D. BALLEN, arrived yesterday morning. On the outward passage she spoke the U. S. gunboat Galatea, all well. On the 19th inst., at 10:30 P. M., passed steamship Costa Rica, from New-York for Aspinwall.

The Notorious Col. Jessie in Limbo.

LOUISVILLE, Tuesday, April 25.

The rebel Col. JESSIE and 28 of his guerrillas were captured near Eminence yesterday morning by Col. BUCKLEY'S men. The loss was small on either side. The number of killed and wounded is not stated.

A CRITIC CORRECTED.—The Evening Post says:

WILKES BOOTH'S melodramatic exclamation on the assassination of the President—"Sic semper tyrannis"—received a new version in this city yesterday. On a house in the upper part of the Bowery was exhibited a transparency exhibiting a man—it might be BOOTH or DAVIS—depending from a gallows; and under it the motto (in bad Latin,) "Sic semper traditoris."

If the Post will walk up the Bowery it will see that the inscription reads, not as given above, but thus: "Sic semper Presidis interfectori et traditoribus." It is over a small shop, probably kept by some scholastic German.

AMERICAN TOPICS.

THE FALL OF RICHMOND.

The news of the fall of Richmond created intense excitement in England, but it arrived too late to admit of the papers generally commenting on it, and as the most of the markets had closed from the 13th to the 17th inst., the effect of the news cannot be fully developed until they reopen.

The London Daily News says that the army of Virginia so long deemed invincible, the pride, the hope, while it remained the centre, the citadel of the Confederacy, has been not only beaten but shattered. The Davis government is now vagrant and fugitive Richmond, which received it, and gave it for a time a dignity which it could never have acquired among the cotton plantations, where it had its rise, was set on fire by its departing guests. That the Confederate army fought with all its old tenacity and clan, we cannot doubt, but it has been broken up by men who, as we have often been told, were the sweepings of Northern cities. DAVIS began the war by declaring he would carry it where food for the torch awaited Southern armies in densely populated cities, but the attempt to burn New-York ended in nothing but an execution, while DAVIS set his borrowed capital in flames and decamped.

The Morning Advertiser says: "The further circumstances and consequences of this heavy blow will be looked for with intense anxiety, as the close of the war, or the inauguration of a new and widespread guerrilla conflict, of unknown duration, may spring from the conflict.

Other papers are silent, as yet, upon the news

GREAT BRITAIN.

The London Times has an editorial regretting that the people of Melbourne should have displayed so much sympathy with the crew of the Shenandoah, who are engaged in the destruction of ships coming upon errands of peace to their ports. The Times says, however, it is an affair of the populace and not of the government, with whose difficulties it sympathises. It recommends the colonists, as they are not prepared to bite, that they should bark as little as possible.

The Times also has an article strongly condemning the conduct of Judge SMITH, of Montreal, for his ill-considered and dangerous charge on the subject of the St. Albans raiders.

A London correspondent to the Provincial press says that there are some unpleasant whisperings as to the desire of the King of the Belgians, who is still in England, to exercise an influence over the course to be taken by the British Government in Mexican affairs. Lord PALMERSTON has for many years been no favorite with his Belgian Majesty, who does not conceal that he finds more pleasure in the pliant and subtle Earl CLARENDON, an avowed Austrian in his leanings. Earl RUSSELL oscillates between the two. He begins, I believe, to regret the precipitancy with which he yielded to the royal wish to recognize the pretended Mexican empire. Fall it must, if not saved by European interposition, and that right early, and for this neither the Premier nor the Foreign Secretary is prepared.

FRANCE.

Debate on the Italian portion of the address was progressing in the Chambers.

M. THIERS declared himself adverse to the unity of Italy, in which he saw danger and no utility to France. He defended the Papal Government and favored an alliance with Austria.

EMILE OLLIVIER defended the Italian convention of last September, which consolidated Italian unity, and censured the idea of M. THIERS for the alliance with Austria.

The debate was then adjourned.

Advices from Algiers say that a visit of the Emperor to that colony was still considered probable.

The Paris Bourse on the 14th inst., was quiet and lower, the Rents closing at 67f. 80c.

A telegram from Rome says:

"It is asserted that the Count DE SARTIGES will shortly be withdrawn from Rome, and that France will only be represented by a Secretary of Legation until the difficulties of Rome are settled.

SPAIN.

The Paris correspondent of the London Times says that the disturbances at Madrid were more serious than heretofore stated. On the evening of the 12th inst. an assemblage in the street was suddenly dispersed by a volley of musketry. The troops fired right and left. M. NAVAS, who was going to the Casino, was killed. Another gentleman who was wounded died in a few minutes. Some other persons were killed and fifteen wounded—some more or less seriously. There was no provocation given on the part of the people. The cavalry charged through the streets, and used sabres. No proclamation had been issued to warn the public or to forbid their moving about the streets as usual,

VERY LATEST VIA LIVERPOOL.

LIVERPOOL, Saturday, April 15—Evening.

The fall of Richmond is the universal topic today. The friends of the North are greatly elated at GRANT's successes, and are strengthened in the conviction that the final triumph of the North is near. Even those who have manifested the strongest faith in the rebel cause, show unmistakable signs of despondency.

The rebel loan has declined about six per cent., closing at 23@25, while the Federal securities exhibit a decided improvement. Illinois Central Shares were quoted at 63@64; Erie Shares, 36½37; United States Five-twenties, 64½@65¼.

CORTINAS TO BESIEGE MATAMORAS.

Mendez Defeated by the Imperialists—Railroad Improvements.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Friday, April 21, 1865.

The English schooner Joseph Reed, which arrived a few days ago from Matamoras, brings the important news that Gen. CORTINAS had declared against the empire, and had taken up a position on the high-road from Monterey to Matamoras, having seized the horses belonging to the stages and carts that were carrying merchandise between the two places. His forces were said to consist of six thousand men, composed of Mexicans and Texans.

Gen. MEJIA was employed in fortifying Matamoras and Bagdad, raising made intrenchments, and other defensive works of importance in the last-named place. The force, however, under his command, was vastly inferior to that commanded by CORTINAS, there being only 400 or 500 men to garrison Matamoras.

The Brownsville Ranchero of the first of this month says that the guerrilla chief CARAVAJAL had passed eight or ten days in the island of Brazos, and it was supposed that he had been arranging with the Federals the best way to maintain the interests of JUAREZ along the frontier.

The guerrilla chief MENDEZ is said to have had several engagements with Col. BALDRAS, of the Imperial army, but was defeated each time. MENDEZ and his men, says the same account, which is dated from Ciudad Victoria, the 17th ult., were fleeing in all directions.

Two locomotives had been received at Matamoras, to form a line of steam cars from Monterey to Piedras Negros, without rails, as the latter, says the account, are attached to the locomotives. The locomotives for a city railroad had been also received.

The clothing that Gen. MEJIA ordered for his soldiers from Spain were expected to arrive the week following. It is composed of a fine blue cloth of Barcelona, and was ordered to be made at Madrid—the fashion being taken from that of the principal European regiments. LARA.

The City Attacked by Cortinas and the Suburbs Captured.

HAVANA, Saturday, April 22, 1865.

The Captain of the steamer Uno informs us that the wife of CORTINAS had asked leave of Gen. MEJIA to leave Matamoras, and also for a safe conduct or pass. These requests were granted for herself and daughter, but a sum of $30,000 in gold was not allowed to be carried away by the lady. At that time, CORTINAS, with his forces, attacked Matamoras and gained possession of the suburbs. In the fight he lost some prisoners, including two officers, who were at once shot. LARA.

FROM TEXAS.

A Heavy Robbery—Mutiny of a Rebel Regiment—Prospect of Good Crops.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Saturday, April 22, 1865.

Two blockade-running steamers, the Wren and the Badger, bearing the English flag and laden with cotton, entered this port yesterday from Galveston, the former consigned to HELM, the Confederate agent, and the latter to the Spanish firm of HERRERA & Co. The Wren had thirteen passengers and the Badger four. They are both small steamers, about 400 tons burden. The United States mail-boat Nonpareil also arrived the same day from Key West.

The blockade-runners brought news from Texas to the 15th inst., but the papers which were from Houston and Galveston contained nothing of particular importance. The news of the evacuation of Petersburgh and Richmond had been received in both cities, but the later event, the surrender of LEE and his army, was not known at the above-named date. The Telegraph deplores the evacuation of the above-named cities, but is convinced that it was in accordance with Gen. LEE's plans, so as to be able to act more freely and with larger forces against the Federal armies.

Mr. JOHN L. WILLIAMS, who was taking $54,000 in gold belonging to the City of Goliath to Clifton, Texas, was attacked and robbed on the night of the 6th by some highwaymen, whom he fired at six times with a revolver, wounding one of them in the arm. Mr. WILLIAMS was afterward very badly treated by the robbers, who succeeded in escaping with their booty.

Brig.-Gen. MAJOR left Texas on the 15th for the other side of the Mississippi, where he had been sent to afford his services.

A newspaper published at Goliath states that a regiment, of course Confederate, stationed on the other side of the River Nueces, had mutinied in consequence of having received an order to move to Corpus Christi. About 200 of the regiment refused point blank to obey, and proceeded east after having chosen officers to their liking.

The schooner Eliza Catherine, Capt. BOYLE, capsized on the 6th at the bar of the river Brazos, the Captain, mate, supercargo and two sailors losing their lives. The vessel was loaded with cotton.

The wheat and corn crop in Texas is said to look well. LARA.

FROM SAN DOMINGO.

Scarcity of Trustworthy News—Exchanging Prisoners—Escape of the Dominican Chief.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Saturday, April 22, 1865.

Notwithstanding the regular arrival of steamers from St. Domingo, little or nothing is known here of the state of things in that island, were it not that the subject of the abandoning St. Domingo, which is to be debated in the Spanish Cortes at Madrid, gives one an inkling as to affairs in that island. The only news we have received lately is an account of the exchanging of some prisoners by the belligerents. The exchange took place on the 8th and 10th of this month and up to the time of sending the last accounts, the Spaniards had received 160, composed of sergeants, corporals and privates, beside seven officers, a physician and apothecary. All are said to have come back in a deplorable condition, almost without clothes, shoeless and sick; 96 of them went into the hospital. They had been prisoners for nineteen months at Santiago de los Caballeros.

The Spanish accounts state that the Ex-Chief of the Dominicans, POLANCO, and two others confined in the prison of Santiago de los Caballeros escaped, and had not since been heard of. Several Spaniards confined in the same place, to the number of 20 or 25, had evaded the vigilance of the jailors, and succeeded in escaping from Santiago, taking the road to Gurabo, where, together with some inhabitants of the last-named place, who were loyal to the Spanish Government, they had set out across the hills with the intention of forcing the enemy's lines opposite Puerto Plata, and getting into the Spanish camp there. It appears that some of them, who attempted to put this bold act into execution, were taken prisoners and immediately shot.

The Liberty, which arrived here yesterday afternoon, brought us the sad news of the terrible tragedy that has just occurred at Washington. The account has excited among this people a sentiment of horror and indignation at the base atrocity of the crime. Some miserable individuals, born Americans and styling themselves Confederates, who pass their time lounging about cafés and drinking places, attempted to put on a face of exultation at the hearing of the doleful intelligence, but they have received no fellow-feeling from the Cubans, who are disgusted at the cowardly assassination, and openly express their horror to those of the Confederates with whom they come in contact. FROM HAVANA.

Reception of the News of President Lincoln's Assassination—Honors to the Memory of the Dead—News from Mexico.

HAVANA, Monday, April 24.

The arrival yesterday afternoon of the steamer Liberty, and the awful and unexpected intelligence of the assassination of President LINCOLN, and the attempted assassination of Secretary SEWARD and his son, caused a great deal of excitement.

The steamer, with the terrible news, entered the port with her colors at half-mast, and it was immediately supposed that Secretary SEWARD was dead.

The awful intelligence of the death of the head of the American nation caused feelings of the deepest sorrow in the hearts of all Americans, but many of the "secesh," it was evident, secretly rejoiced, while others did so openly. Others, however, look upon the affair as a very sad one, as one that would not do their cause any good either directly or indirectly.

To-day the American Consulate displays the Stars and Stripes at half-mast, and most of the American shipping in the harbor have also their colors at half-mast.

The blockade-runners Wren and Badger arrived here yesterday from Galveston with cotton, but brought no important news.

JOHN L. WILLIAMS, who was carrying $54,000 of the State money from Salisd to Clinton, Texas, was robbed and maltreated by a band of robbers, one of whom he shot.

Brig.-Gen. MAYN had left Texas on the 15th to take a command on the other side of the Mississippi.

A regiment on the other side of the Mueces had mutined, elected officers to suit themselves, and had gone eastward. The English schooner Eliza Catherine, Capt. BOYLE, had sunk on the bar at BRAZOS River, losing the Captain, mate and three others. She was loaded with cotton.

A new use has been discovered for the "played-out" blockade runners here. There is reliable information for stating that the Ptarmigan has been painted black and is being refitted out for the slave trade. It is also very probable that others of this kind of craft will follow the same business.

We have little news from Santo Domingo. About 169 prisoners, officers and soldiers, had been exchanged on the 8th and 10th instants. All were in a deplorable state. Ninety-six have entered the hospital.

The United States war steamers Nereius and Aries have been in this port within the last seven days.

The Nereius reported the arrival of the Neptune at Cape Haytien; all well.

Five men deserted from the Nereius while here.

Desertions of sailors from our gunboats are becoming frequent, occurring every time a vessel puts in here. They are probably enticed aboard of blockade-runners.

The Proteus at last accounts was at Key West.

By way of Matamoras, we have news that CORTINAS had declared against the empire, and was preparing to attack Gen. MEJIA, who is in Matamoras with a garrison of about four or five hundred men. According to verbal information, CORTINAS, at last accounts, was either at Bagdad, (that is at the mouth of the Rio Grande,) and had thrown up intrenchments, or at an intermediate point on the road between Monterey and Matamoras. In either case, MEJIA is cut off from all communication with the interior, and can receive no reinforcements. He will surrender to CORTINAS or retreat through the Tamaulipas range, where he will be incessantly exposed to the attacks of guerrillas. By going north to Piedras Negras, starvation and the Indians stare him in the face.

Nothing is said of the cause of CORTINAS' unexpected proclamation. When CORTINAS signed his famous protest of adhesion to the Emperor, he had only 500 or 600 men under his command; MEJIA 3,000. Since then things have changed materially. MEJIA having only 500 and CORTINAS 5,000 or 6,000 of the forces of the State of Tamaulipas under his command, which he has cunningly brought together, augmenting them with his Texas allies, and confiding in the impossibility of his adversary's receiving aid, has marched on him and will probably conquer. If he succeeds, and the Republican flag again waves over Matamoras, the result will be of no little importance to the cause of JUAREZ.

We will have further news by the Barcelona on the 28th.

Reinauguration Celebration—Gen. Conner's Camp.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, Saturday, March 11, 1865.

In common, as is presumed, with the whole of the northern portion of the Union, on the 4th inst., the reinauguration of Mr. LINCOLN, was celebrated here in grand style. The military came down from camp Douglas and with the civil officers, local militia, and principal citizens, made a lengthy procession through several of the main streets, bringing up eventually at a temporary stand in the street, in front of the market house, where the assembly were addressed by Hon. Judge TITUS, in a speech certainly somewhat longer and more pretentious than President LINCOLN's. The weather was favorable, though, in view of the probability of a stormy time, BRIGHAM had tendered the use of the Tabernacle for the occasion.

After the "exercises," the military officers and others were invited by the Mayor to a cold collation at the City Hall, where patriotic talk and patriotic toasts prevailed.

On the Tuesday following, to finish up the rejoicings, the city authorities invited the officers, civil and military, to a grand complimentary ball at the Social Hall, which went off very well.

Several of the military chieftains, it is said, were profoundly impressed concerning these courtesies and reunions, and are half inclined to take back some of their harsh words previously uttered concerning the party which represents the major portion of the community hereabouts. For it is generally understood that the military powers as represented at Camp Douglas, and the civil authorities of this city, from the first, have scarcely been on speaking terms. Not that either party had any tangible unadjustable cause of offence, but both parties were mutually distrustful, each of the other.

President LINCOLN's Inaugural appears to have in some way disappointed most folks here. The local papers published it, but said naught about it; not a single word of comment. The opinion is extant that he was wearied out by the multiplicity of executive business, and so did not "feel like" girding up his loins for an oratorical effort, but merely gave an exhortation instead.

Gen. CONNOR started for Denver on Wednesday, to look after the overland mail route. He has a notion of sending a few soldiers with each coach for protection. This week the stages have recommenced running through to Atchison, and there is a fervent hope prevailing here, that the last stoppage of the overland mail has been recorded. The feeling against mails going "round the Horn," as the Isthmus and San Francisco route is derisively termed, are very strong in the territories, as much of the paper mail traveling from the Pacific this way, is apt to get snagged west of the Sierra Nevada, and that is not a paying business to subscribers. The government has lost considerable, and the public vastly, by the recent irregularities on the plains. Such matters need a vigorous looking into, and strenuous efforts to prevent, if possible, any repetition of this annoying state of mails and mail routes. Let the past failures and break-downs suffice. Something better is needed, and will be agreeable, if only for the sake of variety.

After a weeks' interregnum, the theatre will reopen for the "Spring season" on Wednesday, with "The Avenger" and "Magic Toys." The recently enhanced prices of admission, combined with the exclusion of "Gentile" talent from the boards, does not seem to work well, as a reduction of from 25 to 50 per cent. will then be made. The prices are to be: Parquette, 75 cts. to $1; first circle, $1 to $1 25; second circle, 75 cents to $1; third circle, 25 cents. A "beggarly account of empty benches" is not a very healthy symptom financially.

All official orders, reports and documents, and the latest and fullest Washington news, are given. European news, with graphic letters from our correspondents in London and Paris, giving the tone of public feeling abroad, is made a special and permanent feature. In addition to Editorials on all the current topics of the day, the WEEKLY TIMES has a page of carefully prepared commercial matter, giving the latest financial news and market reports; items of agriculture and domestic interest, compiled from sources many of which are otherwise inaccessible to the American reader; and marriages and deaths of the week.

The "WEEKLY RECORD," or news summary—being a careful synopsis and digest of the news of the day, both rebellion and general—is alone worth double the subscription price to the paper, as it preserves in a condensed and conveniently classified form all news of interest, and must prove valuable as a record to all time.

The WEEKLY TIMES will be sent to subscribers in any part of the country on the following terms: One copy one year, $2; three copies one year, $5. Fresh names may at any time be added to Clubs, both of the WEEKLY and SEMI-WEEKLY, at Club rates. Payments invariably in advance.

Dyspepsia and Fits!

A sure cure for these distressing complaints is now made known in a Treatise on Foreign and Native Herbal Preparations, published by Dr. O. Phelps Brown. The prescription was furnished him in such a providential manner, that he cannot conscientiously refuse to make it known, as it has cured everybody who used it, never having failed in a single case. It is equally sure in cases of Fits as of Dyspepsia; and the ingredients may be found in any drug-store. Sent to all on receipt of five cents to prepay postage. Address Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN, No. 19 Grand-st., Jersey City, N. J.

COAL AT COST.

CONSUMERS' BENEFIT COAL COMPANY. SHARES, $10.

Each share entitles the holder to one ton of coal per year, at the cost of mining, transportation and delivery, which is now about $8 per ton; also to a share of the profits on the sale of coal produced beyond the quantity supplied to shareholders.

Those who buy for investment can have the coal they will be entitled to sold for their benefit, and receive the proceeds over the cost in cash.

Investment in this stock is not a risk, for anthracite coal lands are rapidly rising in value.

The shares to be sold are limited, and are nearly all subscribed for. Immediate application is necessary to secure any. Office, No. 71 Broadway, Room No. 50.

TO THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE CORN EXCHANGE INSURANCE COMPANY OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK:

Whereas, William Barnes, Esq., Superintendent of the Insurance Department of the State of New-York, having personally examined into the condition and affairs of this company, has determined that its capital of four hundred thousand dollars is impaired to the extent of fifty (50) per cent. thereof, and has directed the officers of said company to require its stockholders to pay in the amount of such deficiency within sixty (60) days from the second day of April, 1865.

Now, therefore, in pursuance of such requisition, and by virtue of the statute in such case made and provided, the stockholders of this company are called upon for the amount requisite to make its capital equal to the amount fixed by the charter of said company, and are required to pay in at the office of the said company, No. 157 Broadway, in the City of New-York, on or before the first day of June, 1865, the sum of twenty-five dollars on each and every share of the stock of said company, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, the amount of the deficiency above stated on the capital stock of said company.

Dated NEW-YORK, April 7, 1865.

JAMES D. SPARKMAN, President.

W. H. WINDSOR, Secretary.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, PURSUANT to the statute in such case made and provided, that a meeting of the stockholders of the BLACK HAWK GOLD MINING COMPANY will be held at the office of the said company, No. 81 John-st., in the City of New-York, on Wednesday, the third day of May, 1865, at 12 o'clock, noon; that the object of said meeting is to take such proceedings as are required by law to diminish the capital stock of said company; and that the amount to which it is proposed to reduce the said capital stock is the sum of two million five hundred thousand dollars.

OFFICE OF THE ORIENT MUTUAL INSURANCE CO., April 10, 1865.

AT A SPECIAL MEETING, HELD THIS DAY, the Board of Trustees of the ORIENT MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANY, in deference to the considerations, connected with his private affairs, assigned by Mr. BIERWIRTH for his withdrawal from a position which he has so long and so honorably filled as President of this Company, accepted his resignation with deep regret, and with a full appreciation of the loss sustained by the Company in being compelled to yield to the necessity of separating from one who, during the devotion of so many years to the interests of the Company, has shown the highest ability in the discharge of his official duties.

At an election, subsequently held, Mr. EUGENE DUTILH, was unanimously chosen President of this Company, to fill the vacancy to occur by Mr. Bierwirth's withdrawal on the 1st May next.

By order CHARLES IRVING, Secretary.

WORKING CAPITAL, 6,000 SHARES.

President, CHARLES G. JUDSON, Sawyer & Judson, 84 and 86 Chambers-st.

Vice-President, J. L. EVERITT, Cashier Broadway Bank.

Treasurer.....CHARLES GOULD, 58 Wall-st.

Ten wells are now going down on the company's property, in the richest portion of the famous Sugar Creek Valley. There is room for 5 0 more.

The trustees will refrain from lengthy advertisement of the prospects of the SUGAR CREEK PETROLEUM COMPANY. THE STOCK IS NOT WATERED. The projecters depend for their profits solely on a RISE IN ITS MARKET PRICE.

But a few thousand shares will be sold, and these on the only honest basis, VIZ., AT THEIR PAR VALUE.

The company's property is worth more than the entire capital stock. The latter is so small, indeed, that even a ten-barrel well will pay regular monthly dividends.

PROSPECTUSES AND MAPS CAN BE OBTAINED, AND SUBSCRIPTIONS EFFECTED, BY APPLICATION TO CHARLES G. JUDSON, NO. 84 CHAMBERS-ST.; CHARLES GOULD, NO. 58 WALL-ST.; J. L. EVERITT, BROADWAY BANK, OR TO EITHER OF THE TRUSTEES.

FOR SALE—A BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY RESIdence, (formerly owned by the late Major William Jones,) situated in the town of Oyster Bay, north side of Long island, on the west side of Cold Spring Harbor. It is within two hours' ride of the City of New-York, by Long Island Railroad, and Syosset Branch Road, which is now being graded to within ten minutes drive of the house, and also by steamboat, eight months of the year. The mansion house is built of wood, with white oak frame, a substantial and fine-looking building, large and commodious, with every convenience, and in perfect order. It is beautifully situated in the centre of a large lawn, extending down to the water, and is surrounded with large fine ornamental trees. The grounds consist of 18 acres of choice land, under a high state of cultivation, and abounding in fruit of all kinds. The outbuildings are two cottage-houses, a large stable and carriage-house, wood-house, tool-house, ice-house, (filled,) bathing and boat-house, in complete order, besides two graperies, (each one hundred feet long,) filled with choice fruit, and heated with hot water pipes. There are two wells of excellent water and a living spring upon the premises. There is a fine beach for bathing, and unsurpassed advantages for boating, gunning, fishing, &c. If not disposed of by 1st day of June next, it will then be sold at auction, on the premises, at 12 o'clock noon, to the highest bidder. For any particulars apply to J. L. B. WILLARD, Nos. 36 and 38 Barclay-st., New-York.

FOR SALE—A BEAUTIFUL COUNTRY-SEAT, in the District of Columbia, adjoining the Soldiers' Home, affording, from its great elevation, fine views, not only of Washington City and the intervening country, but of the Potomac River and the country beyond. The dwelling-house is large, handsome and convenient, having (besides a dry cellar,) three stories, each with four good rooms, and the second and third having also a small room over the entrance hall. Near the dining-room is a pantry, and over it a bath-room, which, as well as the kitchen, (a separate building,) is supplied with water from a tank and cistern. There are in convenient locations a summer-house, with an ice-house under it; smoke-house, manager's house, (with seven rooms,) and a carriage-house and stable, supplied with water through pipes from a good well. The buildings have all been erected within eight years, and the grounds are handsomely improved. Of the tract, which contains about 74 acres, some 20, near the house, are in groves, lawns, orchards and gardens; about 30 acres more are in fields for cultivation, and the remainder is woodland, lying beautifully. Fine building sites are in several parts of the tract, and it is very susceptible of division.

For further information, apply to Conway Robinson, on the premises; George Mattingly, Washington City; Edmund Randolph Robinson, No. 69 Wall-st., New-York, or the undersigned, No. 1319 Spruce-st., Philadelphia.

AFFAIRS AT ALBANY.

Danger of Hasty Legislation—The Bill to Ratify the Constitutional Amendment Against Slavery—The Bill to Permit the Manhattan Gas Company to Increase the Price of Gas—Central Railroad Fare Bill.

ALBANY, Saturday, April 22, 1865.

The Legislature has reached that stage of the session when important matters are acted upon hastily; when members receiving no compensation from the State for their services lose something of the feeling of responsibility that governs their action earlier in the session; when many things are done, for which they are afterward accused, and some things are done which have to be repented of. It is the time when publishers can best push through resolutions giving them fat jobs of printing without members being aware of the large amount of money they are voting from the treasury; the time when railroad jobs, gas company jobs, and all manner of jobs in the legislative line, have the best chance of success. That prudent stage of legislative work when members decline to vote for a measure unless they understand it, is in contrast with the present; for now the benefit of the doubt is thrown in favor of the bill. Members are not wholly in fault for this, for the amount of really important business pushed upon them for decision renders it impossible for them to fully understand their business as legislators. It is one of the evidences of the earnest desire of legislators to discharge their duties fairly, that they are frequently regretting the necessity which compels them to vote upon New-York City and other bills without a knowledge of the facts which should govern their action. The time has come when they must take final action upon questions in regard to which they have not reached fixed opinions, and that action is controlled by influences too numerous and varied to be enumerated, rather than by the deliberate judgment which would be desirable.

The work of the Legislature this week has been limited to yesterday and to-day, and next week will be in part devoted to funeral ceremonials; yet it is hoped that final adjournment may be reached next week.

There was a lively scene in the Assembly to-day passing the bill formally ratifying the Constitutional Amendment prohibiting slavery. Several Democrats found themselves in an embarrassing position, and left the Assembly chamber, thus avoiding the responsibility of voting for or against the bill. Messrs. WEED, of Clinton, and TOLMAN, of Westchester, on the other hand not only voted for the bill, but took the ground that it was time for their brother Democrats to cut loose from all connection with the system of slavery. Mr. WEED spoke at considerable length, urging that recent events had so changed national affairs that Democrats could now consistently vote for a bill which, a few weeks ago, they would have been compelled to oppose. Mr. VAN BUREN desired to have a call of the House and require members who dodge to be placed upon the record. This proposition was received with much favor at first, but after discussion it was finally concluded not to carry it out. The bill passed by a vote of ninety to twenty-two.

The bill removing the restriction on the Manhattan Gas Company in regard to the price they may charge for their gas, passed the Assembly to-day by a vote of 63 to 30, recorded as follows:

YEAS—Messrs. Angel, Barkley, Bemis, Bonham, Boswell, Bookstaver, Brandreth, A. A. Brown, Brunson, Burns, Cole, Cooper, Cutting, N. Clark, W. N. Clark, Close, Crandall, Crowell, Daniels, Eldredge, Flood, Godfrey, Green, Hallenbeck, Hasbrouck, Haynes, Hollis, Howard, Hungerford, Kimball, Langner, Lefever, Lee, Lewis, Lockwood, Maley, Matthews, McCall, McConvill, McNeill, Mersereau, Morey, Nickerson, Nolan, Olcott, Palmer, J. L. Parker, Perry, Platt, Rankin, Richardson, Ridgway, Robertson, Rouse, Root, Sammons, Sanford, Severance, Sumner, Shaw, Shook, Speaker, Shutts, E. S. Smith, Spoor, Squires, Stafford, Stannard, Talman, Tillinghast, Tolman, Topliff, Turner, Vanderzee, Veeder, Ward, Weaver, Webber, Weller, Worth, Whitman—83.

NAYS—Messrs. Andrus, Biddlecom, Blauvelt, J. W. Brown, Carpenter, Collins, Edgerton, Goughan, Gleason, Huise, Humphrey, Kellogg, Keegan, Lapham, Lord, Loutrell, Lyons, Murray, Oliver, Pitts, Post, Redington, Reed, Rogers, Seebacher, Shepard, Stanford, Stewart, Strong, Van Buren, Wood—30.

The bill permitting the New-York Central Railroad to increase the rate of fare for way passengers to two and a half cents per mile was reported to the Assembly, to-day, and a motion made to make it the special order. This motion required a two-thirds vote to carry. The motion failed by a vote of 60 to 56

Passage of the Central Railroad Fare Bill—The President's Remains.

Correspondence of the New-York Times.

ALBANY, Tuesday, April 25, 1865.

The Central Railroad Fare Bill passed the Assembly to-day, by a vote of 69 to 58. Its passage has been deemed a foregone conclusion since it came down from the Senate, having passed that body, and hence there was to-day no special excitement. The bill was debated at some length, and ably, previous to its passage. What is termed the Wilderness Bill, providing for incorporating a company to improve or open up the wilderness in Northern New-York, was ordered to third reading in the Senate to-day. It has already passed the Assembly. It has been very strongly opposed by the representatives of St. Lawrence County, and some of the representatives of the northern counties.

The remains of the late President are expected to arrive here at 11 o'clock this evening. Appropriate preparations are now being made, and to-night will be devoted to ceremonials connected with the arrival. At half-past one o'clock to-morrow morning, citizens are to be admitted to see the remains in the Assembly Chamber.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

A Memorial Meeting in Honor of the Late President—Addresses by Fred. De Peyster, Esq., Rev. Dr. Hitchcock and William M. Evarts, Esq.

The Historical Society held a very interesting meeting last evening, at the hall corner of Second-avenue and Eleventh-street. The President, FREDERIC DE PEYSTER, Esq., presided.

The exercises were opened with an impressive prayer by the venerable Rev. Dr. SPRING.

The President made the following address:

FELLOW MEMBERS: We meet this evening to mingle our grief with that of all loyal hearts throughout the Union, touched with a due sense of the calamity which has fallen upon the nation. The assassination of President LINCOLN is made the more heinous by the reflection that at the time of his murder his heart was seeking to temper the strict demands of justice with that "quality of mercy" which "droppeth as the gentle rain from Heaven." But it is a source of consolation in this afflictive event—which, like a pall, rests upon our land—that his mantle has fallen upon one who, with many of the qualities of his illustrious predecessor, unites with great ability and experience in public affairs a just estimate of the crime of treason, and decision of character equal to the emergency. The principles which Mr. LINCOLN so nobly and persistently maintained will never die. They are all the more precious because consecrated by his death. While he held the helm of State he guided it through the tumultuous waves of civil war, with a quick and steady eye to the dangers which beset it; with a calm and and penetrating judgment, with a dispassionate comprehension of the rocks and shoals along which his course lay; but with a patriotic zeal and devotion to duty, that lifted him above all doubt and fear. While time endures, and freedom survives, the name of this martyr for liberty will be a watchword for its friends—a terror to its foes. My countrymen, we live in an age of marvels. Posterity will look upon it with wonder and admiration. History will engrave on the records of fame, in adamantine letters, its struggles, its sufferings, its sacrifices and its triumphs. A civil war of unprecedented dimensions, unequaled for the appliances which science, ingenuity and great resources provided, and for large and powerful armies, distinguished for their valor and endurance, has deluged our land with the blood of its sons, laid myriads in unknown graves, filled homes with widows and orphans, made countless hearts mourn the effect of wounds incurable as the restoration of mutilated limbs, and devastated vast and fruitful regions, once smiling with the blessings of peace, plenty and contentment. And for what were these widespread and sore evils made the scourge of our day and generation? History is a stern and searching discerner, when, in candor and truthfully, it rescues from oblivion, after the passions of the hour have subsided, crimes against humanity, and exposes the guilt of treason in all its deformity, its utter selfishness and blotted ambition. Will the "Muse" shut her eyes to the demoralization of the South, where the pistol and the bowie-knife are the familiar arbiters of disputes? Will she overlook the lust of power and the pride of life which made its ruling classes doom to irremediable bondage a race which they vainly imagined were born to support them, by its toils, its tears, its throes and its blood? Will she disregard the effect of their example upon the intermediate classes, inordinately as it were, between them and that lowest class, the slave? Will she fail to publish the damning truth, that to lay the corner-stone of a projected confederacy, to be built up by the conscripted aid of the contemned white class and the degraded black, the organized rulers of that Utopian scheme rebelled against the best government on earth, perjured their consciences and called upon a just and omniscient God to prosper their polluted and inconceivably wicked treason. No! No! She will have man study history as he studies philosophy, and recognize certain general principles as rules of life and conduct; and conclude with Lord BOLINGBROKE, that "these must be true, because conformable to the invariable nature of things." The South will learn, from mitred bishop to the lowest slave proprietor, that the primeval curse is common to all men! Inflated by the beneficence which a kind Providence bestowed upon these men of position, wealth and ease, like Goliah, they contemned the Shepherd of the North and their fellow kinsman of toil and industry, dispersed throughout the Free States. But the "stone and the sling" have prostrated the bullying Giant, and he lies headless by the very sword with which he purposed to destroy his defied and contemned adversary!

"MAN PROPOSES—BUT GOD DISPOSES."

The subject is one of ample dimensions, replete with instructive lessons. History furnishes illustrations of greater good and consolidated power, resulting from assassinations of rulers, with designs similar to those anticipated from the murder of the good and great man, to whose mortal remains, on their way to their final resting place, our city has this day paid its highest civic and military honors. But I leave to others here present this instructive theme. With RENAY of NAVARRE, in the glowing language of MACAULEY, I can exclaim:

Ho! gallant nobles of the league, look that your arms be bright!
Ho! burghers of St. Genevieve, keep watch and ward to-night!
For our God hath crushed the tyrant, our God hath raised the slave,
And mocked the counsel of the wise and the valor of the brave;
Then glory to His holy name, from whom all glories are!

Before I conclude, let me advert for a moment to no insignificant fact. Pregnant with warning, characteristic in its emblems, and a token of the dark ages as well as of demoniacal malignity, the wretch who assassinated Mr. LINCOLN bore in one hand the pistol, in the other the knife. The assassination was planned in Canada, as we are officially informed by the War Department, and was approved in Richmond. It included other prominent officials. Now let me ask, was not such a hellish plot enough of itself to stamp such villainy and its sympathizers with a curse as that upon the vagabond Cain? Not mercy, but for such judgment I thank God that ANDREW JOHNSON survives. One more incident, new perhaps to some here, known doubtless to many. Mr. LINCOLN had spoken to one who narrates the circumstances, of a poem which had made a great impression upon his mind. The name of the author was unknown to him. He promised, upon a fitting occasion, to repeat it. Sitting on a pile of books in the Treasury Department at Washington, he then compiled with the request to recite it, and it was taken down from the lips now silent in death. I give one of the verses. It has a touching application:

"The hand of the king that the sceptre hath borne;
The brow of the priest that the mitre hath worn;
The eye of the sage and the heart of the brave;
Are hidden and lost in the depths of the grave."

No! not hidden, not lost! Like Abel, the first victim by assassination, I say it reverently, ABRAHAM LINCOLN, the last victim, "being dead, yet speaketh."

DR. HITCHCOCK'S REMARKS.

Rev. Dr. HITCHCOCK was introduced and made an eloquent speech. He said that the nation had shown its grief for our great calamity by funeral ceremonies for the late President, extending from the Potomac to the lakes. But while we weep, we have occasion for rejoicing. Enough to mingle our tears with the bereaved household, and we weep for the nation bereaved in this stupendous emergency of its history, we have more reason for rejoicing than sorrow in the death of Mr. LINCOLN, who dies covered with renown. Had he died by the hand of disease, he would have been classed with heroes, but now he passes down to posterity as a martyr. To how few is it permitted to seal their testimony with blood? Now his fame was safe—no folly can tarnish his fame. We bless and dismiss him with benedictions and a secure renown. We are quite safe, the speaker said, in assigning to Mr. LINCOLN the next place to WASHINGTON, the father of his country. WASHINGTON gave us the Union in the beginning of our national career; he gave us the Union and liberty for a caste. LINCOLN conserved the Union and made liberty universal. That word "liberty" History will carve on his monument, and it will baptise his name forever and forever more. There is still high joy for the nation. We belong to a race that can go from ballots to bullets; and what is still harder, from bullets to ballots. The President, Vice-President, Cabinet and every other man indicated in the constitution, to perform the functions of the government; and this ship of State would have leaped gallantly through the breakers, without a crash or jar. Our theory and professions are now proven, and we know that the nation can govern itself; that it is a government by the people, for the people. His great errand of preserving the national life has baptized ABRAHAM LINCOLN for immortality. The speaker said that this side of perdition no greater mistakes have been made than to suppose that a principle can be injured by striking down its representative. The idea of a republican government is no longer a problem. Political assassinations fail as much as religions, in accomplishing their purpose. LINCOLN died for union and liberty; for our flag all over the land, and that flag only of the free. Look at the result of the assassination to-day. An oath more stern than that at Carthage has been accorded that treason shall be suppressed under that flag, and that slavery shall no longer live. The blood of LINCOLN has been given a sacrifice for the continent, before we were bound by the memory of our fathers—now the blood of a martyred President binds us. We would prove most unworthy did we not take up and carry on his work. We should keep a clear vision, and know when and what to strike. The assassination was no individual frenzy. If not concocted in Canada, it was in keeping with what we have seen during the past four years; the natural product of slavery. Let us swear over the remains of our martyred President that with the tree we will dig out the root.

A series of appropriate resolutions were reported, Mr. BRODHEAD lamenting the death of Mr. LINCOLN, expressing sympathy with the afflicted family, and directing that the hall of the Society be draped in mourning.

MR. EVARTS' REMARKS.

Mr. WILLIAM M. EVARTS seconded the resolutions in a very eloquent speech. In speaking of the grief of the people, he said that under the infliction of Providence, we have so vast and intense a sorrow, that there is a great cry as if one were dead in every house. Not only was the bereavement and grief of the form and manner of a blow—a blow to our civilization—a blow to our pride and hopes of exemption from the sad history of earlier ages—but it was an evidence that this nation is eating of the tree of knowledge of good and evil. The assassination was more terrible because it was struck at one who should have been free from it, because of his brief term of office, his feebleness of personal power and aggrandizement. The speaker paid an eloquent tribute to the integrity, moral character and simplicity of Mr. LINCOLN, and also to the firmness and ability of President JOHNSON.

The Search for Booth.

ARRANGEMENTS IN THIS CITY—ALL OUT-GOING VESSELS EXAMINED.

Since the receipt of orders from the department at Washington to search all out-going vessels, none have been allowed to depart without a thorough examination of all on board. All railroad trains leaving the city are inspected by the authorities, and not a passenger enters them that does not, unconsciously perhaps, pass under the eye of an experienced detective. The Sound steamers were, at first, inspected after their departure from the city, but much time was thus lost, and now officers are present while the steamers are loading and passengers going on board. A sharp eye is also kept on trains arriving from the southward. The heavy reward offered stimulates the police and special detectives to keep up an unfailing watch for the assassin. They are, however, of opinion that BOOTH is still concealed in Washington.

The Lincoln Monument.

Subscriptions to the fund for erecting a monument to Mr. LINCOLN are being received with encouraging rapidity. The treasurer is Mr. T. G. CHURCHILL, President of the Columbia Fire Insurance Company, No. 161 Broadway, and the committee comprises Capt. MARSHALL and Mr. JOHN C. HAMILTON. Subscriptions are limited to one dollar. Numerous offers of larger sums have been received and refused, as the committee desire to have all classes represented in the movement. Subscription papers have been distributed among the insurance companies; banks, hotels and newspaper offices, which are being rapidly filled up. On the list sent to the Fifth-avenue hotel, one hundred and fifty names were entered in a very short time. Many prominent citizens of all political parties are cooperating with the committee.

The precise character of the monument has not yet been determined. It will probably be erected in Union-square, on the site now occupied by the pedestal bearing Volk's bust of the President. Should the subscriptions amount to more than $50,000, they will be presented to Mr. LINCOLN's family.

After the Obsequies.

The mourning emblems with which the City Hall is decorated will be allowed to remain until the last honors have been paid to our deceased President at Springfield. The removal of these emblems will probably be the signal for a general displacement of the signs of mourning with which the city is now covered. The interior of the City Hall remains precisely as it was when the body lay in state. The so-called "catafalque" will, however, be removed to-day. The Governor's room was visited yesterday by hundreds who were unable to obtain admission previously, some of whom availed themselves of the opportunity thus afforded them of obtaining mementoes of the occasion by cutting off portions of the silver tassels and fringes of the canopy. As soon as this was discovered a policeman was put in charge, and no one was allowed to stop within the canopy. CARPENTER's sketch of Mr. LINCOLN still hangs in its place beneath the dome. An effort will be made to induce the Common Council to purchase the sketch, or to have a picture finished from it.

Business was generally resumed yesterday. The theatres were all opened last evening. The streets were unusually thronged with visitors, who had come in to view the remains and witness the processions, and who have not yet left for their homes. The hotels are crowded, and the city is fuller at the present time than it has been for months previously.

St. Albans Bazaar.

The opening night of the Grand Bazaar and Promenade Concerts for the benefit of the building fund of St. Alban's Church, of this city, at Irving Hall, came off last evening. The opening exercises consisted of a short prayer and introductory speech by Rev. A. C. COX, who briefly set forth the purposes of the bazaar, and called attention to the fact that the Church of St. Alban's was being paid for by the young men, assisted by the young ladies of the congregation.

The hall is very beautifully fitted up, and decorated with wreaths of artificial flowers, and the windows were gaily hung with bright-colored draperies. The stands were also very prettily arranged. On the stage are placed a fine collection of paintings and engravings by some of our best artists, the entire arrangement of which gives a very fine effect to the general appearance of the bazaar. In the midst of the paintings stands a very fine statue of Nydia, contributed from GOUPIL's gallery. Over the collection of art treasures are draped the American colors.

In the midst of the hall stands a beautiful floral temple, exquisitely built, the fairy-like proportions of which were delightfully lighted up by pendent lamps of glass. Sweet singing canaries caroled forth their joyous notes amid the cheerful mirth around them. The temple was adorned with a rich collection of growing lilies, standing in huge rows at intervals. Dilicious perfumes floated through the air, and the fair attendants rivalled the beauty of their floral offerings.

There are ten stands of fancy goods, two for art materials, and articles of vertu, white water color drawings and other articles of a like nature abound in rich variety. Four stands of refreshments tempt the eye and the palate alike, and these latter were patronized early in the evening.

Among the novelties is a bona fide Petroleum Oil Company, and the neat prospectus issued by the enterprising board of Directors gave great satisfaction and caused considerable amusement. As a neat burlesque this "never failing Petroleum Company" will rank high. Dividends are declared between 8 and 10 P. M. each evening, and are paid promptly to all who apply personally. The Post-office is also a feature and was very successful last evening.

Among the articles for sale is a splendid grand piano from CHICKERING's manufactory, who also furnish another instrument for amateurs and other pianists of note, who will furnish during the week a choice selection of instrumentation.

The promenade music was furnished, last evening, by the Twenty-second Regiment Band. The programme of the evening was as follows:

PART I.

1. March	Duppel	Pieffe.
2. Overture	Masaniello	Auber.
3. Waltz	Congress Ball Dances	Lanner.
4. Barcarole	Vespers Sicilienne	Verdi.
5. Galop	Ione	Helmsmuller.
6. Selection	Un Ballo in Maschera	Verdi.

PART II.

1. Potpourri	Old Friends with New Faces	Mallach.
2. Arietta	Il Basio	Arditi.
3 Galop	Bride of the Wind	Vittel.
4. Selections	Fille du Regiment	Donizetti.
5. Ballad	Beautiful Dreamer	Foster.
6. Tableaux	Drums and Trumpets	Helmsmuller.
	National Airs.
Coodnctor	F. B. HELMSMULLER.

PAINTED.

During the evening MENDELSSOHN's "Song of Praise" was sung by amateurs, and some piano music was also given toward the close.

The entire affair was a fine success, the attendance was quite large and the toilets very tasteful and handsome. Fair beauty courted the favor of the spectators, and were soon driving a brisk trade with the eager buyers. The committees were attentive, and the whole affair passed with éclat. No doubt the succeeding nights of this beautiful bazaar will fully realize the expectations of the opening night.

Promenade concerts will be given every evening by Grafulla and Helmsmuller's Banps, alternately. Season tickets may be obtained from the members of the Executive Committee. We would advise all who wish to assist in a good work to go and see the St. Alban ladies and gentlemen in their amiable efforts to raise the means to liquidate the building fund of their church, and they will not regret their visit.

The Police Courts.

JEFFERSON MARKET—BEFORE JUSTICE LEDWITH.

JOHN O'CONNELL, a youth of 17, was detected in the act of passing to a confederate a gold watch he had stolen while ridingon the platform of a Sixth-avenue Railway car on Tuesday afternoon. Several passengers seized O'CONNELL, and his confederate dorpped the watch and leaped from the car. The prisoner was held until Policeman LOGAN reached the spot, and then taken on the way to the Sixteenth Precinct Police Station; but before reaching his destination he was rescued by several of his companions. Subsequently, however, the officer found him in a house in Twentieth-street, and took him thence to the Second District Police Court. The prisoner was there committed in default of $2,000 bail.....LYON MYERS was committed in default of $1,500 bail to answer a charge which was preferred by Mr. WILLIAM BROCKWAY, of No. 92 Goerck-street, alleging that on the afternoon of the obsequies the prisoner stole a watch from the complainant's waistcoat pocket, while he was standing on the "thieves' corner" of Broadway and Houston-street.....Officer JACKSON, of the Eighth Ward, apprehended JAMES WELLS, whom he caught in the act of stealing a gold watch from Mr. ISAAC W. JUDD, of New-Haven, in Broadway, while the funeral column was moving. The prisoner was committed in default of $2,000 bail.....Mr. THOS. M. ANDREWS, of Nos. 71 and 73 Worth-st., made oath that on Tuesday afternoon, while he was standing in front of the Maison Doré, JOHN DUGAN stole his wallet. DUGAN, whom Policeman HELMHOLTS, of the Fifteeth Ward, arrested, was committed in default of $2,000 bail.

THE TOMBS—BEFORE JUSTICE DOWLING.

JOHN RAVEL, an Englishman, was apprehended by Detective Officers GOLDEN and GILMORE, for stealing a silver watch from WILLIAM RADFORD, of No. 86 Avenue C. It being shown that RAVEL was caught in the act, he was committed for trial.

WILLIAM BENNETT, who is said to be an English ticket-of-leave man, and had been but two days in this country, was arrested by Policeman MYERS, of the Third Ward, while on board a Hoboken ferry-boat, and Mrs. CAROLINE BOQUES appeared at court and made affidavit that the prisoner had attempted to pick her pocket while the procession was in motion on Tuesday afternoon.

ESSEX MARKET—BEFORE JUSTICE MANSFIELD.

Mr. M. B. EDSON appeared at the Third District Police Court and made affidavit against JAMES MILLER, whom he accused of picking his pocket while he was in a throng on Tuesday afternoon at the intersection of Twenty-ninth-street and Ninth-avenue. The accused was apprehended by Policeman CLARK, of the Seventeenth Ward, and committed for trial, as were also his alleged confederates, ROBERT ANDERSON and JOHN JAMES.

The Russo-Greek Church.

LECTURE BY BISHOP COXE.

The Right Rev. Dr. COXE delivered an interesting lecture last evening on the subject of the Russo-Greek Church, at the Church of the Incarnation, corner of Madison-avenue and Thirty-fifth-street. The pillars, pulpit, chancel, and desk were heavily draped with crape, relieved with white rosettes. The audience was large and highly intellectual.

Dr. COXE said that he had been requested to speak on the subject of the Russo-Greek Church, and without having prepared an elaborate paper on the subject, he would deliver a familiar coloquial discourse in relation to that church. A few months ago there were thousands of people in this country who had no idea that there was such a church. Educated Christians knew there was a Greek church, but our school geographies are grossly incorrect in relation to that church, and the people are content to remain in ignorance of the numbers and character of a large portion of the Christians of the world. The Russo Greek Church is the Greek Church in Russia. A recent event in this city has awakened great interest and remark, and shown the people their ignorance. The people of the Russian Empire became christianized under PETER the Great, but fearing no printed books or forms of worship remained in great darkness. In speaking of the Greek Church, the speaker said that it has the most absolute right to be known as the Catholic Church. The modern Catholic Church is only an offshoot of the original Catholic Church, which existed centuries before a pope was known. In the ninth century the Russian Empire received the Gospel, and the speaker considered it one of the most important instruments on the earth for the promulgation of the gospel. Although the Russo-Greek Church is in communion with the Bishop of Constantinople, yet the church in the Russian Empire is absolutely independent, having its own forms, laws and government. The speaker referred in eloquent words to the sacrifices which the Russo-Greek Church has made, having produced martyrs for four hundred years. The Greek Church has eighty millions of believers—a great power that has never been tainted with popery; eighty millions of historic Catholics. The Russians, he continued, are a remarkable people, singularly coming into power and attracting the admiration of the world, rising up, as it were, from deadness, through the beneficent influences of the Greek Church, which contains the salt of God's blessed word. The lecturer reviewed the objections raised against the Russo-Greek Church by its enemies, and said that it was not as corrupt as the Catholic Church; its errors are truly functional, and can be driven off. The errors of the Roman Catholic Church are organic, having been incorporated in the creed of the church during the middle ages. The evils of the Roman Church are most foul and fatal, while those of the Greek Church are trivial. For one thousand years the latter has suffered the malice of the Roman Church, yet it has never become Roman or Papist. Nothing but the grace of God has preserved it. The speaker was in favor of church union—not with idolatry, but with faith, when it is pure. We should endeavor to purge out their corruptions and do them good. We should act the part of the Good Samaritan. In conclusion, he exhorted his hearers to extedd the hand of Christian fellowship to the Russo-Greek Church, explaining away the objections urged against it by its enemies, who, he contended, were in the interest of the Roman Church.

At the conclusion of the lecture, Rev. Dr. MONTGOMERY made a few remarks, commending the efforts of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. BILL in Athens, in teaching Christianity to Greek children—their labors having been crowned with much success.

Mission Work in New-York.

On Tuesday evening the monthly meeting of the City Mission was held in the Central Presbyterian Church, A. R. WETMORE, presiding. Several missionaries were introduced, who told of policemen enlisted in the war, and now returned sick, receiving sympathy and aid; of a soldier who received from the mission a Testament, in which were several marked passages, and who wrote from the battle-field that one of these verses led him to Jesus; of a German tailor reclaimed from Sabbath desecration: of a profane sailman taught to pray; of sailors, immigrants, and many others appreciating timely counsel and kindness in the hour of need, and now becoming sober, industrious and devout, and loving to do good to others. Rev. JAMES B. DUNN spoke of the earlier history of his church, and its connection with the beginning of the tract effort, and said that the church was still true to the cause of the poor, and welcomed all to its doors. He had just met one of our brave boys who left an arm at Malvern Hill, being taken by the rebels, lay for ten months in Libby den, who told him that a tract given him in New-York, was blessed to his soul, and also to that of a comrade, who had lost both legs in the service of his country. We need missionaries more than churches. We ought to have 400 at once. The statistics embrace the following figures: 4,321 missionary visits, 396 meetings, 817 persons to church, 169 children to Sabbath-school, 69 Bibles and Testaments given, and 73,810 tracts distributed.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

THE JAMES-STREET MURDER.—Coroner GOVER held an inquest, yesterday, at the Fourth Ward Police Station, over the remains of THOMAS CASEY, who was shot by FREDERICK HISLEY, a young Canadian, in JAMES CASEY's liquor-store, at No. 40 James-street, on Tuesday afternoon. It appears that HISLEY quarreled with JOHN H. COWAN; that COWAN struck HISLEY and knocked him against a counter; that HISLEY attempted to draw a revolver, but was prevented by the interference of bystanders; that the stepped out and returned within a few minutes, with a cocked revolver, and saying to COWAN, "I'll blow your brains out," fired and lodged a ball in CASEY's neck. The wound proved mortal within half an hour. After he had fired, HISLEY was knocked to the floor and terribly beaten by the crowd, but was rescued and taken into custody by Policemen MULLEN and TOWNES, of the Fourth Ward. Deceased was a native of Irland, aged 50 years. The jury found a verdict against HISLEN, and he was committed to await the action of the Grand Jury.

FOUND DROWNED.—Every Spring, when the surface waters of the rivers change temperature, large numbers of bodies of the drowned rise from the depths in which they are held by the cold and heavy upper currents in Winter. On Tuesday two bodies were reported from the East River. Any attempt at description would be useless, since the corpses are disfigured so sadly that recognition by the friends is out of the question. Yesterday Policeman SAMUEL W. DANIELS, of the Second Ward, found a body corpse floating alongside the ship Cornelius Grinnell, at Pier No. 21, East River, supposed to be the body of a young man who fell overboard, in February last, from the ship Plymouth Rock. An inquest was held by Coroner COLLIN.....MASON LEE, a canal-boatman, found a corpse floating off Pier No. 8 East River. The body had seemingly been several months in water. An inquest was held by Coroner COLLIN. The Coroner held an inquest on another body at Bellevue Hospital that could not be recognized, yesterday.

THROWN AND KILLED.—On Tuesday afternoon Mr. DANIEL SPICER, Senoir, who had just purchased a spirited horse, started out riding with his son; but shortly after leaving the stable the horse took fright and ran away. The young man, who was first thrown from the wagon, escaped with a fracture of the jaw and other slight injuries; but Mr. SPICER, who held the reins until the horse reached Thirteenth-street, where the wagon was overturned by coming in contact with another vehicle, was landed head foremost on the sidewalk, and almost instantly killed. He was 54 years of age, and leaves a widow and several children at Plainfield, N. J. An inquest was held by Coroner GAMBLE.

DEATH OF A PATRIOT.—Coroner COLLIN held an inquest, yesterday, at No. 61 Sixth-street, upon the body of Capt. PETER DE COUNT PICHLER, of Company K, Second New-York Heavy Artillery. Deceased was a native of Germany, as his name indicates, and twenty-six years of age. He had served four years in the war, and been twice wounded, when he received a bullet in the head in the late battles before Richmond. He was taken home to die, and lingered until Tuesday night. The body is to be taken to the abode of the parents at Utica, New-York.

THE DOLLAR FUND.—Mr. BENJ. B. SHERMAN, merchant, of No. 95 Wall-street, is acting as treasurer of the "Dollar Memorial Fund" to be presented to Mrs. LINCOLN. Those who desire to coöperate in the work, will greatly aid the speedy collection of the fund by presenting subscription lists to their customers' families and friends. Names of all the donors will be presented with the fund, and in due time published in some form.

FEARFUL AND FATAL FALL.—On Tuesday afternoon, Mrs. ELIZA FITZGERALD fell from the roof of No. 233 East Broadway, and was impaled on a spike on an iron railing. Her right leg, left arm and skull were fractured. She died shortly after being borne to Bellevue Hospital. She was fifty years of age. An inquest was held by Coroner GOVER.

REMAINS OF DR. SHELDON.—A private dispatch, just received from San Francisco, states that the widow and son of the late Dr. B. A. SHELDON, Surgeon-General of California, left there for New-York on the 22d inst. with his remains.

FIRE IN ATTORNEY-STREET.—Messrs. WAGONER & ECKHART's, cabinet factory, in the rear of No. 68 Attorney-street, was damaged to the amount of $500 by fire and water, at 9 o'clock, last evening.

SUDDEN DEATH.—MARGARET WILLIAMS, of No. 23 Third-street, a servant, fell and died while at work, Tuesday afternoon, at Mr. EVERSON's, No. 20 Third-street. She was about 50 years of age.

TOMBS CLOSED.—Warden SUTTON, of the Tombs, closed that Egyptian mansion on Tuesday, the first time in seven years.

FOUND DEAD.—JOHN JONES, a black man, was found dead in his bed, at No. 84 Ridge-street, Tuesday afternoon.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

BURGLARY.—The clothing establishment of Mr. A. AYERS, No. 363 Fulton-street, was feloniously entered on Tuesday night, by prying off the shutters of the rear window. Goods to the value of $150 were stolen, consisting of ready-made clothing mainly. The Lafayette Insurance Company, in the same block, was robbed a few evenings previously.

TEARING DOWN MOURNING EMBLEMS.—MARIA MCLAUGHLIN was brought before Justice PERRY yesterday on the charge of maliciously tearing down mourning emblems in the neighborhood of Plymouth and Bridge-street. When arrested she made use of very indiscreet language in relation to the late President. The Justice sentenced her to the Penitentiary for sixty days.

RETURNED.—Mayor WOOD, who has been absent for some weeks at the South, returned home yesterday in the steamship Fulton. He appears improved in health and spirits. The President of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen, occupied his position during his absent.

THE PLACES OF AMUSEMENT.—The places of amusement in this city, which have been closed for more than a week, in consequence of the great national calamity, reöpened last evening, and were rewarded with full paying houses.

"OUT OF SORTS" expresses the feelings of many that cannot be otherwise described. Languor, weakness, enervation, listlessness, sleepiness, melancholy, want of appetite, &c., compose a class of ailments greater than all others combined. It is exactly for these indescribable complaints that PLANTATION BITTERS are prepared. It is for the relief of these same complaints they have become so famous. Hence it is that they are so extensively used by clergymen, merchants, ladies, and persons of sedentary habits. They are as pleasant to the taste as they are beneficial to the stomach. The extent of their sale is almost incredible.

CONSUMPTION—CONSUMPTION.—We say to persons having consumption, in whatever stage of the disease, use Dr. WISHART's Pine Tree Tar Cordial, which is readily taken up by the blood and carried to lungs, and the healing principles of the tar act upon the inflamed sores of the lungs and stop their decay at once, and the patient's life is saved. The Pine Tree Tar Cordial has great power to dissolve the thick mucous that stops up the wind-passages of the lungs, and expels it from the system. The Pine Tree Tar Cordial purifies the blood and cleanses it of all scrofulous matter that is constantly breeding sores, internal and external. Salt rheum, blotches on the face, and all skin diseases, are especially cured by Dr. WISHART's Pine Tree Tar Cordial. Office No. 10 North Second-street, Philadelphia. Sold at HELMBOLD'S Drug and Chemical Warehouse, No. 594 Broadway, New-York.
